INVESTMENT TRAINING FOR WOMEN

WHAT is the finest inheritance a man can leave his daughter? Surely not property, for that, through unwise investment or careless handling, may decrease and eventually disappear.

The Incomparable Inheritance is a thorough education in the fundamentals of Investing, Finance and Business Management—a training that will make it possible for a young woman to manage her own finances wisely, and to accept successfully executive responsibilities in business or banking.

A New Era In Education

When Webber College was founded in 1927 by Mrs. Roger W. Babson, it opened a New Era in the education of women. The aim of Webber is to provide for young women the same fundamentally sound executive training that Babson Institute offers for men. Webber is the first college for women, whose curriculum includes as broad a foundation for success in business and banking as the classical colleges offer in cultural background for successful living.

Catalogue on Request

If you know any ambitious young woman who may be interested in Webber, you will do her a service if you send for the new Catalogue which describes the courses; the Fall Term in Boston; the Winter Term in Florida; the methods of study, and the outside activities, all planned for the student's finest development.
