This Prism of a Place

Here it was, then,
This prism called
Higher learning.

The whole thing a kind of
Alternate curriculum—
Reality all refracted,

Evasive, or evaded
In a frenzy
Of highs and lows . . .

(Where are the lows of yesteryear . . .?)

See, there, how the light
From this prism
Curls out

And embraces the universe.
Inexorable,
It dances back to the eye of the beholder,

Who must not hope to see
The world as though
This prism of a place had never been.

—Richard P. Flanagan
Henry A. Kriebel—President
David J. Carson—Associate Dean of Students

Lewis L. Neilson, Jr.
Steven Edelheit—Lecturer in Composition and Literature II
All New Books Without Any Markings Or Names May Be Returned To The Babson College Bookstore Within (7) Days From Beginning Of Each Term.

Descom D. Hoagland III—Assistant Professor of Accounting

Edward J. McGee—Associate Professor of Marketing; Chairman, Department of Marketing
Walter H. Carpenter—Vice President for Academic Affairs; Dean of Faculty

James Boudreau—Director of Libraries
Bryce Prindle—Professor of Science
Robert L. Gill III
John R. Mulkern—Associate Professor of History

Norman A.P. Govoni—Assistant Professor of Marketing
Charles S. Bunker—Associate Professor of Management
Mrs. R. Douglas Kelley—
Assistant to the Dean of Students
for Student Activities

Earl K. Bowen—Professor of Mathematics
Chairman, Department of Math and Science
I. Scott Small
Peter A. Wish—Lecturer in Psychology