MORATORIUM SUPPLEMENT

OCT. 15, 1969
co-editors: Ladd Valentini louisiana manager: Barry Berman finance manager: Bob Linka photography editor: Rich Nogut editorial manager: Rich Nogut supreme editor: Scott Marshall photography: David Rosenthal
staff: Brent Fieldman, Bob Goodfriend, Gary Ferguson, Pete Hopwood
Bob Corso
Kieran Fielding
Pat Nahm
Nancy Globy Reid
Carol Mason
Scott Seligman

Mr. Hamner
Published weekly except for vacation and exam periods by the undergraduate students of Baton Rouge City College at Baton Rouge, La. Subscriptions are $5.00 per year. Opinions expressed in articles are those of the authors and do not reflect the views of either the school or the administration. Phone: (225) 217-7771.

LETTERS LETTERS LETTERS LETTERS LETTERS

Yes, now in regard to "cheap" Check there is a fundamental reason behind a stock's continuous success. To those of you who have tossed aside institutions using other food services or at least for some reason for Sugar's success should be obvious.

In regard to Sugar in general, you believe financial wizards at Robert Allen have been put together is always a reason behind a stock's successful stock. This is totally true. The only reason behind a stock's success is to those who have tossed aside institutions using other food services or at least for some reason for Sugar's success should be obvious.

In regard to Sugar in general, you believe financial wizards at Robert Allen have been put together is always a reason behind a stock's successful stock. This is totally true. The only reason behind a stock's success is to those who have tossed aside institutions using other food services or at least for some reason for Sugar's success should be obvious.

...I just get back from visiting Jim. I have to say we have not met more rising circumstances. Jim sent me a note today that a bunch of people at the local bar two days ago, I have been under the influence of mood all day. The guy's name was Taylor. The thing that hurts about this is that every Monday we go out to dinner. Jim, the best gotten married after we graduated from Weller and are still single school after we left Fort Spenning...I went to the memorial services for him today. If you can justify what happened? A boy of 22 years, married seven months, dies. For what?

...I am in the chapel tonight trying to find out one reason. All that the chaplain said was he gave him his country. Bull. If we were fighting a war to win we wouldn't be here for eight years. As I see said before, this is an economic war we are fighting. The rich get richer and the poor.Inter

For Congressmen don't want the war to end, our big business doesn't want it to end (Bell Helicopter, clothing and food manufacturers). Lead of all, the Vietnam doesn't want it to end. If we pull out, this country could crumble. Not under communism, but because the rich GM

President Nixon has, on numerous occasions, stated that he will not allow the voice of dissent to sway his policy making decisions. This sounds completely contradictory and to the point, however, when looking at it more closely one begins to notice discrepancies.

During the past few months, there have been numerous attempts at placating the voice of dissent. Along with this attempt to quell the problem, has come a marked increase in the total numbers verbally opposing America's position in Vietnam. Nixon, in his April 26th address to the nation, announced that he would not force Nixon into peace in exchange for his life. The original platform of the Moratorium seemed to be against alienating anyone from participation that now it seems like a N.Y.C. and D.C. partition movement. In front of some 100,000 parents, doctors, and all kinds of students who joined for the first time ever in peaceful protest of

...on August 12, 1966, an American soldier in Vietnam named Jerry wrote a letter to his wife Ellen in the Bronx.

...I just get back from visiting Jim. I have to say we have not met more rising circumstances. Jim sent me a note today that a bunch of people at the local bar two days ago, I have been under the influence of mood all day. The guy's name was Taylor. The thing that hurts about this is that every Monday we go out to dinner. Jim, the best gotten married after we graduated from Weller and are still single school after we left Fort Spenning...I went to the memorial services for him today. If you can justify what happened? A boy of 22 years, married seven months, dies. For what?

...I am in the chapel tonight trying to find out one reason. All that the chaplain said was he gave him his country. Bull. If we were fighting a war to win we wouldn't be here for eight years. As I see said before, this is an economic war we are fighting. The rich get richer and the poor.Inter

For Congressmen don't want the war to end, our big business doesn't want it to end (Bell Helicopter, clothing and food manufacturers). Lead of all, the Vietnam doesn't want it to end. If we pull out, this country could crumble. Not under communism, but because the rich GM

President Nixon has, on numerous occasions, stated that he will not allow the voice of dissent to sway his policy making decisions. This sounds completely contradictory and to the point, however, when looking at it more closely one begins to notice discrepancies.

During the past few months, there have been numerous attempts at placating the voice of dissent. Along with this attempt to quell the problem, has come a marked increase in the total numbers verbally opposing America's position in Vietnam. Nixon, in his April 26th address to the nation, announced that he would not force Nixon into peace in exchange for his life. The original platform of the Moratorium seemed to be against alienating anyone from participation that now it seems like a N.Y.C. and D.C. partition movement. In front of some 100,000 parents, doctors, and all kinds of students who joined for the first time ever in peaceful protest of

...on August 12, 1966, an American soldier in Vietnam named Jerry wrote a letter to his wife Ellen in the Bronx.

...I just get back from visiting Jim. I have to say we have not met more rising circumstances. Jim sent me a note today that a bunch of people at the local bar two days ago, I have been under the influence of mood all day. The guy's name was Taylor. The thing that hurts about this is that every Monday we go out to dinner. Jim, the best gotten married after we graduated from Weller and are still single school after we left Fort Spenning...I went to the memorial services for him today. If you can justify what happened? A boy of 22 years, married seven months, dies. For what?

...I am in the chapel tonight trying to find out one reason. All that the chaplain said was he gave him his country. Bull. If we were fighting a war to win we wouldn't be here for eight years. As I see said before, this is an economic war we are fighting. The rich get richer and the poor.Inter

For Congressmen don't want the war to end, our big business doesn't want it to end (Bell Helicopter, clothing and food manufacturers). Lead of all, the Vietnam doesn't want it to end. If we pull out, this country could crumble. Not under communism, but because the rich GM

President Nixon has, on numerous occasions, stated that he will not allow the voice of dissent to sway his policy making decisions. This sounds completely contradictory and to the point, however, when looking at it more closely one begins to notice discrepancies.

During the past few months, there have been numerous attempts at placating the voice of dissent. Along with this attempt to quell the problem, has come a marked increase in the total numbers verbally opposing America's position in Vietnam. Nixon, in his April 26th address to the nation, announced that he would not force Nixon into peace in exchange for his life. The original platform of the Moratorium seemed to be against alienating anyone from participation that now it seems like a N.Y.C. and D.C. partition movement. In front of some 100,000 parents, doctors, and all kinds of students who joined for the first time ever in peaceful protest of

...on August 12, 1966, an American soldier in Vietnam named Jerry wrote a letter to his wife Ellen in the Bronx.

...I just get back from visiting Jim. I have to say we have not met more rising circumstances. Jim sent me a note today that a bunch of people at the local bar two days ago, I have been under the influence of mood all day. The guy's name was Taylor. The thing that hurts about this is that every Monday we go out to dinner. Jim, the best gotten married after we graduated from Weller and are still single school after we left Fort Spenning...I went to the memorial services for him today. If you can justify what happened? A boy of 22 years, married seven months, dies. For what?

...I am in the chapel tonight trying to find out one reason. All that the chaplain said was he gave him his country. Bull. If we were fighting a war to win we wouldn't be here for eight years. As I see said before, this is an economic war we are fighting. The rich get richer and the poor.Inter

For Congressmen don't want the war to end, our big business doesn't want it to end (Bell Helicopter, clothing and food manufacturers). Lead of all, the Vietnam doesn't want it to end. If we pull out, this country could crumble. Not under communism, but because the rich GM

President Nixon has, on numerous occasions, stated that he will not allow the voice of dissent to sway his policy making decisions. This sounds completely contradictory and to the point, however, when looking at it more closely one begins to notice discrepancies.

During the past few months, there have been numerous attempts at placating the voice of dissent. Along with this attempt to quell the problem, has come a marked increase in the total numbers verbally opposing America's position in Vietnam. Nixon, in his April 26th address to the nation, announced that he would not force Nixon into peace in exchange for his life. The original platform of the Moratorium seemed to be against alienating anyone from participation that now it seems like a N.Y.C. and D.C. partition movement. In front of some 100,000 parents, doctors, and all kinds of students who joined for the first time ever in peaceful protest of

...
"However, under no circumstances will I be affected whatsoever by it."
—Richard Nixon

to the editor (or whomever)

Although the two of us have never met personally, I am fully aware of your activities of the past few years. I hope that you may have heard of me.

The matter that I am about to discuss with you is of the greatest importance. It is top secret and must not be revealed to anyone at all. I know I can trust you to keep the material under your hat. It is vital to the nation's security.

As you know, the nation's cities, under the failures of the present administration's bumbling—indeed, are in uproar. We know that the major cause of this is the outside agitation caused by radicals and militants of the so-called "new left." Accordingly, we have set up a committee to investigate the trouble caused by these anarchistic persons. This imperial committee, called the "Joseph McCarthy Memorial Committee," will recommend to about the problems facing us in our wonderful republic.

Pat O'Connor, Charles Corder, Bert Laski, and others

Sincerely, gratefully,

Joe Nixon
A Top Late Warning
Scott Seligman

Place, place, place—time, time, time—with a lot of bad people—decided rich. Who knows getting down with our 200 century-thing as an antiennomancy of regression. Riding the tidal wave of conservation at Boston is translated into apathy. Quite frightening you people who don't care, you're only inside—very dangerous outside because isolationism from man makes you less human. Our times deny the right to be megalomaniacs when you have mind, 5, or both. You are responsible to more than your wallet, mouth, and penis. Your responsibility encompasses all modern society, American boys, and it's past time to get down with it. Understand this, this isn't a political tract trying people to look inside your heads; and if all you find is cars, and girls behind them, TV, beer, and brownies. But if perchance there is more (and there has to be) then look to that rather real world outside your little personal clique called society, and do something about it if you want one in the future. NOW!

off the common

Over 100,000 people came to the Boston Common yesterday.
Some were boys, some were girls, some were men, some were women. Some were white and some were black. Some carried signs, and some didn't. A few were members of Progressive labor, a few were the Weathermen, some were correspondents.
I was associated with any anti-war group, some were middle-of-the-road, some were free in the right side of the middle. But this massive mobilization of people, of different sexes, ages, races and political classifications all came the Common for one purpose;
to demand an end to the useless destruction in Vietnam by American and the return of our boys, from that war torn country.

A plane flew overhead saying, "Stop the War," and a spontaneous cry of 100,000 people to "end the war" echoed across the Common. Sky writers flew overhead and drew a big peace sign that could be seen by hundreds of thousands all over the Boston area. An immediate2 of the 100,000 people of "peace now" next began, each waving his arm in the air, fingers extended in the traditional peace symbol.
Someone spoke on the podium,
"We want peace; and we want it
now. When do we want it?
NOW!"
"I can't hear you"
"NOW!"
Wid cheers and screams,
"Peace now, peace now, peace now"--100,000 people on their feet. Hands in peace sign, "Peace now, peace now, peace
now..."
A professor Mendelsberg spoke on stage. He remembered the names of several people who have put their political careers on the line* for the name of peace.
"Robert Kennedy" was the most popular, "George McGovern" was more massive applause.
"Ted Kennedy"

Screams and shouts of support for this highly popular senator.
Finally, "George McGovern's
Applause," the senator from South Dakota took the microphone.
George McGovern denounced the war, he called it a mistake. By continuing on and by support by the way in which the war is being headed, he went on to say, we are doing the most patriotic thing possible. Working to make America what it should be, Mc-Goverw demanded an immediate withdrawal of troops, denounced the Thieu-Kim regime, and promised to keep fighting until we force a change in administrative policies regarding the war.
There were cheers as he finished, Howard Zinn, author of "Vietnam: The Logic of Withdrawal" was the next speaker.
Zinn denounced the war as one of the biggest mistakes in America's history. He demanded an end to the war with an American apology to all of Vietnam. He threw some doubt on our capitalistic system saying that the rich get richer, and committees have too much power. Mr. Zinn said our democratic government, with all of its checks and balances is not so democratic. He said, of course we are allowed to assemble and protest, but the President can just sit back and do nothing. Howard Zinn's speech was fairly radical in tone. He told all those that could hear him that American in reality, is far from what it is on paper.
The rally continued, There were more speakers, 100,000 people stayed and listened, 100, 000 people cheered at every mention of peace or an end to war.
After all, that's what all of this is about.
Someone had a sign, "Nixon lies the war, send Nixon to Viemnan," Oh yes, about Nixon, He stated that he would not be affected by the Missions. All one could do was listen to John Kennedy: "Any person in office who ignores 150,000 people at the Boston Common, will not be in office very long."
He is right after all, We already said "By-by Birdie" to someone in a similar position.

You've all heard of the "enemy"
The Animals with minds like vegetables and bodies like pigs
whose only purpose is to end your life.

They'll burn out your eyes pull out your teeth pour hot coals over your body cut it open eat your guts
and intestines
and heart,
suck your blood
and leave you alone
with a final "screw you"

A decade before my birth the Germans, Japanese and Italians
were the "enemy"
At my birth the North Koreans
were the "enemy"
Now the Viet Cong are the "enemy"

But to me they are human

Did you ever stop to think that if you went to war today millions of people far from your tv set would think of you as "the enemy"

You're all heard of the "enemy"
They are the animals with minds like vegetables
and bodies like pigs.

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE
Wednesday Hills
CE 5-0947
Fri. thru Sun., at 8:45 & 9:00
Other Even's at 8
Mattson's Saturday at 5:00
Ends Tues., Oct. 21

CUSTOM CAR RADIO
Specialists in car radios and tape decks.
MOTOROLA — craig — panasonic
Custom installations Student Discounts
9am to 5:30pm Monday thru Saturday
Open Thursday and Friday nights till 9pm
"WE SERVICE WHAT WE SELL" 652-8540
201 Washington St. Dedham Mass.

Dr. Dock
Our Chicken & Potato Salad is definitely beneficial to your health.

Town Line Liquors, Inc.
160 EAST CENTRAL ST. (RT. 135)
NATICK, MASS.
Tel. 653-2060
Open 9 a.m.-10 p.m.

AUTO INSURANCE
Motorcycle Insurance
1969
FOR BABSON STUDENTS
ALL RISKS - TIME PAYMENTS ALL AGES
CEREL-FITZGERALD
11 SOUTH MAIN ST. NATICK
TEL. 672-9811 OR 655-1112