The Student Government is the one organization that constantly has a very close relationship with the Administration. It is the channel of communication and feedback, through which the administration and the students correlate the ideas that contributed toward improvement of the experiment called college education.

Under the presidency of Jim Boutiller the Government enjoyed a successful year in several areas. The new system of co-chairmen for the Social Committee, in the capable hands of Willy Kavanagh and Steve Webber, produced the most enjoyable and financially successful calendar in the school's history.

New legislation occurred in the form of a totally revised and up-dated By-law regarding business licenses—this subject having taken most of the discussion time in the Government meetings. There was indication of the renewed interest in the over-all future of Babson by the reactivation of student participation in the Alumni-Student Relations Committee.

Another indication of this feeling of cooperation between the students and administration was the dropping of the hours-restriction on the Dry Dock Snack Bar—allowing it to compete with the B.S.O. Snack Bar.

The government sponsored the second annual Parent's Weekend—under the chairmanship of Jim Boutiller. The event was expanded to a full weekend, including a special performance by the Theatre Guild, and a dinner-dance in the Trim dining hall—a beautiful building which, from now on, may be used more frequently. The annual Honors Day Assembly was included in Parent's Weekend—a natural marriage of events—and, it is hoped, one that will become a traditional part of Parent's Weekend in the future.
JUDICIAL COURT

This year marks the fourth year the Student Judicial Court has been active in Student Government at Babson. Created as the result of student desire for greater self-discipline and the cooperation of the administration in obtaining that objective, the Student Judicial Court has proved that the student body is capable of internally maintaining acceptable standards of conduct.

Judgment of our acts by our peers is thought to be one of the most positive examples of a mature and democratic society. As a standing committee of the Student Government, the Student Judicial Court has made this concept a reality at Babson Institute.

TRAFFIC COURT

As a standing committee of Student Government, the Traffic Court is charged with hearing appeals on student traffic violations. Every Tuesday evening the Court is faced with the responsibility of dealing fairly with students who feel they have been injusticed by a ticket. Led ably by Chairman Richard D. Carlson, justice is fairly administered by members Terry A. Clark, Thomas W. Suydam and William E. Yeo. Through the efforts of these appointed members, the Traffic Court lends an element of fairness to what seems to many—an unfair traffic ticket.
STUDENT CABINET

First Row: S. Salomon, R. Carlson, T. Martien, R. Onderdonk, Chairman; B. Donham, D. Fuller, F. Luciano.

Composed of the presidents of all the organizations on the Babson campus, the Student Cabinet serves as a communications medium for the executive committees of the various clubs. Blue Key National Honor has the responsibility of coordinating the Cabinet, the president of Blue Key, Robert Onderdonk, serving as chairman of the group.

It has been the practice of the Cabinet to meet when necessary throughout the year to discuss the mutual problems and plans of the member organizations with the Dean of Students, Paul C. Staake.

Most important of the Cabinet's duties is the selection of the members of the Student Judicial Court. During the spring term of this year twenty-four nominees were presented for the Cabinet's consideration from which two were selected to serve as alternates on the court. Special recognition should be given to the Chairman of the Cabinet, Robert Onderdonk, for a job well done.

The BABSONIAN attempts to bring to Babson students a book which will be meaningful to each student as a personal record of college life. To the seniors the BABSONIAN has a special significance because they find meaning in the pictures of every class as they look back over the years with a smile.

It is fair to say that there is a universal feeling of delight among the members of the yearbook staff. Indeed, we are fortunate to have been given a chance to provide the students and school alike with a book of excellence in both technical workmanship and editorial content. The editors of the 1966 BABSONIAN hope that you will agree that we have achieved this excellence in this, our 47th edition.

EXECUTIVE

Editor-in-Chief
Robert W. Horgan
Webster defines 'gadfly' as a person who annoys or irritates others. Socrates said that every community needs one of these pests to keep it alive and in a forward direction. The Babson community had one in the person of the EXECUTIVE, the campus newspaper.

Editorially the EXECUTIVE expounded on subjects ranging from "God Is Dead" to "Why I Will Never Give A Single Penny To Babson". To those who read the paper only superficially the EXECUTIVE was touching on "Sacred Cows" that might be better left untouched. To those who read the paper with a concern tantamount to that of the authors, the paper was the voice of the students that has been muted through too many years and too many inequities.

Intelligent letters did come, though few. We grew by them and tried to inject our new awareness into the students. If we did this our job was complete.

In an eight page tabloid newspaper there are under normal circumstances, eighty double-spaced, typewritten pages of copy. If twenty people participate in making up these eighty pages then it is fun. If five participate then it is work. The EXECUTIVE staff of last year vacillated between five and twenty persons. The inverse correlation between the number of people on the staff and the numbers of spelling errors, proof errors and misinformed commentaries was extremely high. If more than one person sought advertising we had more than we could tastefully carry. If one person was doing this job alone we failed to cover the cost of printing. The latter was more often the case.

If the paper continues to be the annoying gadfly then Babson Institute will continue as a community for the young businessmen for whom it was designed.

CARPENTER NICHE SNICKING IN NEW STUDENT CENTER

A step in the right direction fellas....

Last Thursday at noon, the three carpenters working on the student center were seen dismantling Linda Adams' office. Apparently the diligent dismantling efforts were in response to Mr. Stephen's letter that appeared in the EXECUTIVE on that day.

The letter was quite vehement about the quality of the work performed thus far on the center. Initially the workers were delayed because they had started building the center in the basement of North, but fortunately Mr. Hawk stopped them after three months work. They immediately tore down the partitions and put it up in the right room. The great problem arose when the sharp eyes of President Kristel noticed that the room was in backwards. Of course, resulted from the difference in directions of Park Manor and Park Manor North. This situation forced the workers to turn the whole building around to get things right. They have been doing this at night for the past two years so that nobody but the top management would know.

The incident of the office could lead to a series of protests in which the whole student center could be dismantled, and we simply cannot afford it. A local socialist, Charles Baines, a member of the Student Relations (gynacologists), said as he rushed to the scene, "I am struggling for words to express myself."

Dr. Handler, a specialist in Labor Relations (gynacologist), said as he rushed to the scene: "I am struggling for words to express myself."

Dr. Foley leaped into the center of the conversation saying, "Your construction is faulty and imbalanced" and proceeded to scrawl around the area as people looked on with alarm.

STUDENT FEES EXPOSED

Student fees exposed: A trouble-shooting team of cub reporters of the EXECUTIVE discovered that the rumors about student fees were all true.

As the average Babson student uses the Persey Gym only twice during his upperclassman years (usually to go to the bathroom) it was found that the amount he is paying for the gym is about $36.00 a piece. Each year's tuition accounts for about $8.00 of these fees, with squash racquets costing each student $3.00. This is expensive considering that only twelve people in the whole school play squash.

The yearbook is another large factor in student expenses. The total cost of $25,000 was found to be from $3 for a third-year book. As zero is a very poor divisor, we will forego computation there until the next issue.

Student government spent $5,000 on stamps notifying students that they hadn't paid their student fees. This cost about $1.00 per student.

This year, Miss Kebbe has brought onto our campus another bumper crop of companies searching for Babson graduates. Competition has continued at the high pace of old in search of the jobs being offered to our June, July, August, etc., graduates.

Last year, the average starting salary, according to our Placement Department, was for Babson graduates.
SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

The Babson Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management successfully continued its role of contributing to the professional business atmosphere on campus. Through speaker meetings, field trips, business films, and various other activities, S.A.M. played an active part in campus affairs.

During the year such prominent men as Mr. George Rideout, president of Babson’s Reports, and Professor Robert Austin of Harvard spoke to the S.A.M. members. Field trips were taken to the Boston Stock Exchange, the General Motors assembly plant in Framingham, Continental Bakery, and Garling’s Brewery.

Unfortunately, one of our faculty advisors, Mr. Rudolph Johnson, passed away early in March. To honor this highly respected man and pay tribute to his contributions to Babson Institute, the members established the Rudolph A. Johnson Memorial Scholarship Award, to be presented annually at Honors Day to the senior majoring in Management and Production with the highest academic average. The recipient’s name is to be engraved on the trophy which is to be kept in the trophy case in the Student Center. The first recipient was Lyman D. Vincola.

April 6, 1966, marked the annual S.A.M. Full Day Conference. The theme of this year’s conference was Current Trends and Developments in Business, giving a wide choice in both speakers and topics. Speakers included two economists, Mr. Robert Eisenmenger, Vice President and Director of Research of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, and Dr. Robert Wertheimer, Professor of Economics at Babson; a leading industrial consultant in computer applications, Mr. Jerome Kanter of Honeywell’s Electronic Data Processing Division; a leader in organized labor, Mr. Francis Lavigne, Director of the Department of Education and Research, Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO; and Mr. Herbert E. Tucker, Jr., an Assistant to the Attorney General of Massachusetts. Together the five sessions offered subjects of interest and relevance to all.

Later in April the Babson Chapter played host to a regional convention of S.A.M. University Chapters. Delegations traveled from as far away as Norwich University for the afternoon of informal discussions and talks.

In addition to the professional activities, S.A.M. engaged in several activities of a more social nature. Again this year S.A.M. entered a candidate, Buster Babson, in the campus mayoralty campaign. The campaign was built around the theme of Buster Brown and featured a 20 foot long, 10 foot high shoe. Also, a festive banquet was held at the end of each term, all three at the King Philip in Wrentham.

In retrospect, S.A.M. has had another highly successful year. Three new advisors, Dr. Wallace P. Mors, Mr. Abed A.U. Malki, and Mr. Stewart L. Stokes, Jr., were initiated into membership. Prospects for a high standing among other chapters in the nationwide competition were excellent, as plans for next year’s activities were taking shape.

CIRCLE K
INTERNATIONAL

One of the fastest growing organizations in the United States today is Circle K International. The Babson Chapter of Circle K has been an active club on the campus since its founding here three years ago. The club is sponsored by the Wellesley Chapter of Kiwanis International, and provides an opportunity for college students to develop initiative and leadership in addition to serving the college and community.

In keeping with the objectives of Circle K and Kiwanis, the activities of the service organization have aided such charitable concerns as the Red Cross blood drive, the United Fund, the March of Dimes, and the American Cancer Society. President John Cook and his executive committee also instituted many chapter-oriented projects including giving campus tours to prospective students, a charity student-faculty basketball game, and the sponsorship of an American Indian child in conjunction with a self-help program for the Hopi Indians.

The spring term was highlighted by six Circle K members attending the District Convention in Bangor, Maine, and the installation of ten new members into the club. The organization has a great future on the Babson campus and continues to provide its services to both college and community.

The Babson Marketing Association, a collegiate division of the American Marketing Association, has this year deviated from the more traditional club activities. Our objective was to strengthen the bonds between ourselves and the other collegiate divisions. The primary tool in facilitating this goal was a session of business games run through the computer at Chandler Junior College. Several afternoons were spent by a delegation of club members in planning strategy, and then several days in actually running the games. We were all quite proud that Babson won the competition.

Again, with unification in mind, Babson and the other marketing clubs sponsored a banquet held in late April. This event proved to be most successful and certainly will become a permanent event on the Association's calendar.

The Association maintained an active speaker and film program this year. By far the most outstanding speaker program of the year was held in early spring. The speakers were Mr. John Graham, Space and Information Systems Division, Raytheon Company, and Mr. John Lazur, Associate Technical Director, Communications Division, Mitre Corporation, which is an Air Force consulting agency for systems engineering. A wide range of subject matter was covered that night, topics not usually stressed in our business curriculum.

Through programs such as this, and in working with other schools, we hope to bring to our members the practical experience and personal enjoyment of participating in a club with its eyes on the horizon.
The Business Economics Society, one of Babson's oldest organizations, again enjoyed a rewarding and successful year. Still a growing organization, the B.E.S. continued several of its traditional yearly programs such as the annual trip to the U.N., and expanded into new areas of interest to its membership.

After the glory of graduation passed and took with it some of our most active members, we found ourselves with depleted ranks and sans a president. It fell to our new officers: President Michael Krupp, Vice President John Basner; Secretary David Krench, and Treasurer Fred Jean to polish our tarnished image. Fall term was devoted to conducting a successful membership drive, and revising the constitution. With this solid foundation and willing members, we looked to 1966's winter term with enthusiasm.

The winter term was highlighted by a field trip to New York. Our members, some of whom spent the weekend in New York, met on Monday at the U.N. for a tour and conferences. The term's speaker list was headed by Mr. Richard Long, a stock broker, who at our open meeting addressed the group on "The Future of the Stock Market."

Spring term found our members scurrying between the Boston Stock Exchange, Carling's Brewery, and the U.S. Army Natick Laboratories on field trips. A speaker from the John Birch Society rounded out this semester's activities.

This year was indeed rewarding and successful, and for it we especially wish to thank Dr. Genovese who helped our executive committee coordinate activities. After the installation of eighteen new members and a new slate of officers, the club looks forward to an exciting year of continued growth and service.
Material wealth comforts the body, but only learning, understanding, and discussion aids and expands the spirit. It is this goal that has guided the Newman Club activities for the Roman Catholic students at Babson.

With help of our executive committee, including Van Martin, Jim Somppi, Tom Lessard, and Bob Vanni, and our committee chairmen, Reesom Haile and Bernie Higgins, we set up a calendar of activities that were of interest and worth to our members.

The Newman Club, working in conjunction with the other religious organizations succeeded in regaining the use of the Chapel in Park Manor for our exclusive use for meetings and services. This year we were fortunate enough to arrange for masses on campus, a tradition we hope will continue and expand.

Our speaker program has been arrived at by bringing knowledgeable persons on campus to lecture and lead discussions on both religious and secular subjects. Father Rover, addressed our group speaking on "Love in Modern Literature." In the spirit of ecumenism, the four campus religious clubs invited Richard Cardinal Cushing to address the student body this winter. Providence, however, seemed not to be on our side, since all our plans and preparations were rendered useless by an unscheduled unwelcomed snow storm.

This year, the Newman Club began a Sunday afternoon film series, which covered a broad spectrum of topics from religion to sociology to history. Also, under the fine guidance of our Chaplain, the club's library was broadened.

Though our program was a modest one, we hope it will initiate renewed interest and involvement of the students in the campus religious organizations. With the warm, most welcomed help of our Chaplain, Father Fitzsimmons, we have developed programs and objectives for the future, that will assure success.
SINAI CLUB

Since its inception in 1959, the Sinai Club has become an active contributor to the social and cultural climate of Babson. The club prospered this year under the administration of President Steve Salomon and the executive staff consisting of Vice President Steve Wolf, Secretary Marvin Gould, and Treasurer William Brenner. The Sinai Club continued its seventh year as the center of activity for Jewish students on campus.

Membership this year reached an all time high. Arrangements were made for transportation to Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. A record number of "Bagels and Lox" breakfasts were served in the Fo'c'sle on Sunday mornings throughout the school year. These will be remembered as the high points of the club's activities.

The club is looking forward to a larger membership and greater participation in religious activities under the leadership of the new president, Marvin Gould, in the coming year.

WESLEY SOCIETY

The Babson Chapter of the Wesley Society for Protestant Students was founded this year by Stephen Craine, who was ably assisted by Brian Baker and Craig Fuller. The purpose of the organization has been to bring the Protestant students of different faiths closer together. In keeping with this, the Society has maintained no specific religious practices throughout the year, but rather welcomed all.

Several new programs have been begun by the Wesley Society, which includes, first a speaker series. In conjunction with the other three religious organizations, our club secured an acceptance to speak from Richard Cardinal Cushing whose talk was unfortunately cancelled due to a snow storm. It is, however, the quality of its speakers that the Wesley Society wishes to maintain.

Next, a series of comparative religion programs has been instituted whereby members of the Society attend religious services of various faiths. Three of interest were services at a Baptist Church, a Jewish Synagogue, and at the Christian Science Mother Church.

As a public service to the campus, the Society participated in the cleaning of the Babson Chapel, putting it in working order for the use of the religious organizations.

In the coming years, the Wesley Society hopes to carry on its various programs, and also hopes to be able to do more with the other religious organizations, not only on the Babson campus but in the various schools throughout Eastern Massachusetts.
THE EPICUREAN SOCIETY

The Epicurean Motto as stated by the society's founder and first president, Mr. Jeffrey M. Zack, is "Give us food, wine, women, and song, and the time to give each their own accord." The past year has provided the membership with adequate time to live out, in some small measure, the objectives of the Epicurean Society. During the past year the society has sampled the fine wines and foods of many of greater Boston's finest night spots.

A recent banquet at Henri's, a small French style restaurant in Natick, proved to be one of the best in the society's brief three year existence. The Holiday Inn of Cambridge provided the location for the Epicurean Society's annual Spring dated eating meeting. A wine tasting contest held at the Holiday Inn proved to be a good challenge for the wine connoisseurs and Paul Wilmot who poured many a glass of wine.

The officers of the Varsity Lettermen’s Club for the 1965-66 school year were Terry Clark, President; Sherwood Hettinger, Vice President; Stephen Smith, Treasurer; and Alan Whipple, Secretary.

In accordance with the club’s purpose of fostering athletics at Babson, the club under the direction of Terry Clark purchased a bulletin board announcing all upcoming athletic events both home and away. The sign, which has been strategically placed in the Trim Dining Hall, gives the time, place, and opponents of all athletic events.

The club also had guest speakers during the year, such as Porky Dumart, a former member of the Boston Bruins. Dumart spoke about the NHL today and athletics in general.

During the winter and spring terms the B Club held two open meetings to attract new members. Freshmen on the soccer, swimming, basketball, and tennis teams were invited along with the members of the newly established hockey team.
Interest and spirit ran high among the members of the Babson sailing team as they attended to a rigorous schedule of meets in New England during the fall and spring. Lack of experience and academic probation handicapped the group to an extent.

The commodore’s chair was taken over by Steve Purdy, who replaced Eldon MacLeod, a member of the victorious McMillan Cup Team; Don Seigal was elected secretary, and Jordan Estra, treasurer.

Scott Stevens, Charlie Miner, John Ring, Fred Wright, and two Bermudians, Rick Farrington and Hugh Pritchard, kept Babson in contention at many of the New England intercollegiate sailing events.

The number of freshmen on the ’66 team and improvements made to the equipment and practice schedule raise hope for an excellent 1967 season. The coveted McMillan Cup, won by Babson in 1964, and the John F. Kennedy Memorial Trophy are future goals.

LACROSSE CLUB

In a meeting of the Faculty Committee on athletics held on April 30, 1966, the committee gave its sanction for a Lacrosse Club to operate this spring.

The members of the committee, which includes Dean Steake, Dr. Carpenter, Mr. Brown, Mr. Smith and Mr. Petersen, were of the opinion that a Spring spectator sport such as lacrosse would be beneficial for the Babson community.

Donald Matthews, Ozwald Hodges and Tom Morgan, who represented the Lacrosse Club at this meeting, presented the club’s platform for sanctioning the sport as a club for the Spring Term. One of the eleven points included in their proposal was that there was approximately 17 men interested in lacrosse who have had experience and an equal amount of men who are without experience.

After a short deliberation, the Faculty Committee decided that a lacrosse would be an excellent idea, and that if the club had a successful season they would reconsider the club proposal and possibly give the club varsity status for the 1967 season.
Under the dedicated leadership of President Michael Potter and faculty advisor Dr. Wallace Mors, the American Finance Association has functioned as a small but flexible unit available to all who have a sincere interest in finance and investments.

This year the association heard many interesting speakers from local brokerage and financial institutions. A New York field trip was also offered to members, and a seminar was held on "Careers in Finance."

In the future we wish to expand the association's membership in hopes of attracting more prominent speakers. We pride ourselves in having the most dedicated membership since our organization exists solely for them and their interests.

This year the Young Republicans Club attempted to explore the nature of Republicanism by having small informal meetings, at which some aspect of the Republican party was discussed. These discussions included not only current party problems, but we also went into the past for an analysis of the defeat of Mr. Goldwater. Although much discussion centered about the possibility of bringing Republican speakers of prominence to the campus, it was decided by the members that it would be best to have meetings that would serve to inform them on views of the party as a whole, rather than the opinions of one man. In the future, however, it is hoped that we will be able to encourage speakers to come to Babson.

The freshman orientation program was revitalized this year under the supervision of Dr. Charles Rotman. As usual the purpose of the program was to establish unity and school spirit among the neophytes. Each freshman was assigned an advisor to serve as a guide for the duration of the program. After several tedious hours of meetings, I.Q. tests, and assemblies, the program livened up a bit as the frosh challenged the upperclassmen to a few athletic events. And then there was the mixer?!

After a series of memorable events, the beanies, KK boards, and the illustrious Kangaroo Kourt, the frosh managed to get together and show a bit of unity. Storming the dining hall in business attire, less the proper pants and socks, was an act sufficient to prove to the upperclassmen that the freshmen were truly unified and ready for the awesome task called studying. Thus ended the hazing period for 1965.

Theatre Guild

"Hurry, hurry, Hurry, see the greatest show on earth" was the spirit felt not once but twice on the Babson campus, for this year the Babson Theatre Guild produced two theatrical spectacles. It is rumored that the Wellesley and Natick auditoriums still echo the hoorahs and bravos that hailed the Guild's side-splitting rendering of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" and "Come Blow Your Horn."

"The Forum" was by far the highlight of Winter Weekend, and its great success is due in no small part to the tireless dedication shown by the cast and stage crew. So good was the job done by Stephen Salomon, Jeff Witkin, Bob Onderdonk, Richard Bright, Joe Haedrich and Frank Miller that a second performance was given.

With less than one month to prepare, the members of the Theatre Guild were again in the spotlight, this time in "Come Blow Your Horn." Again Stephen Salomon, Bob Onderdonk, Richard Bright, and Craig Fuller, under the superb direction of Miss De French, put on a performance acclaimed to have been "better than Broadway" by one stagedoor critic. It was, indeed, a most welcome addition to the Parents' Weekend schedule.

Each performance this group puts on must draw upon every member to the fullest, and having such an outstanding crew and cast made it easier. But, as in every group, there are those whom special recognition must be given. Therefore at Honors Day, Frank Miller was presented with the Theatre Guild Award for his service and dedication. For the recognition of superb acting prowess, a new award was initiated, the "Roger," which was presented to Stephen L. Salomon for his role as Senex in "The Forum." It's "certain time," now in your mind's eye. Sit back . . . relax . . . and remember.
