Babson aims to instill a fresh sense of purpose and spark activity in American church congregations. In this introduction, he says, “Only by undertaking new tasks, by fulfilling its mission in ways to meet new conditions, will the church justify its own conditions” (10).