DEDICATION

It comes as no surprise that the National and State budget deficits and imbalances have had a significant effect on the importance of the arts. However, the need for artistic expression and creativity in our society has not diminished.

The Players have chosen to dedicate the show to our new college president, William Glavin, who has stressed the importance of the arts as a necessity for being diverse in life.

We hope that his attitude will be a foundation for the resurgence of the arts both on campus and in the community.

Facts to Know

"The Skin of Our Teeth" has been viewed as Thornton Wilder's answer to the holocaust. It is a testament to his faith in the survival of man. The German translation of the title seems even more appropriate, We've Come Through Again. Thornton Wilder has described the play as the destiny of the whole human group seen from a telescope 1,000 miles away.

The three acts, are three different moments in the creation of the world; the four major characters represent the types most prevalent in society. The characters of themselves in turn represent different levels of meaning; they are actors, whose personal stories filter through the lines they are reading.

Throughout the play, Wilder will use devices that present the action and then remind us in various ways that this is only a play and not reality at all. "The Skin of Our Teeth" carries the author's primary message that humanity can, must, and will triumph over adversity.

Richard Greif
"How did this show come together? By the skin of our teeth."
Chas Dennis "Yesterday is ashes; Tomorrow is wood; Today burns the fire."

Toni Clayton "If today's the present, then tomorrow is the future, and what the end of it will be is still an open question."

Brian Hogan "Is it love, or is it the idea of being in love?"

Eve Kelley "Stay Awake, Stay Alive, Write a Resumé, oh ... and please Pay Your Dues!"

Dan Entwistle "It is easier to beg for forgiveness than to ask for permission."

Marc Basch "The quest for power keeps many people from doing great things."

Palmer Reising "Don't Worry, Smile and Dance 'cause you just can't work life out!"

Players to Play Tonight!

The Babson Player’s Association will be performing Thorton Wilder’s "By the Skin of our Teeth" this evening at Richard Knight Auditorium.

The piece is a comical romp through time following the exploits of one blood-line over the course of the centuries.

The first of three acts takes place in the stone age with the discovery of the wheel and the invention of the alphabet.

The second act, in the 20th century, describes the changes in the family unit brought on by the World Wars and the third act takes us back to the future.

The Cast
Our Message

No curtain. A small budget. A great lecture hall but not a great theatrical stage. No wings for prop storage. The list goes on .... These are but a few of the obstacles that the Babson Players face performance after performance, semester after semester, year after year. Why, you then ask should we bother with the hours of rehearsal, the bruises from missing the nail and hitting the thumb while constructing the sets, the unrecognized work that goes on behind the scenes?

Each member of the cast and crew has their own reason; a laugh from the crowd, applause, seeing their name in the program; and yes, the cast party. However, interwoven in all these reasons is one common bond - belonging to a hardworking, extremely dedicated group that strives to achieve a single purpose. A sense of unity is created, and from this unity excellence is bred.
