Staff

Editor-in-Chief         Jack B. Capron
Associate Editor       Alan D. Paul
Business Manager        Charles S. Miner
Co-Layout Editors      Peter W. G. Feldman
                        Arthur J. Wien
Photography Editor     Richard Nugent
Sports Editor           Vincent Keenan
Fraternity Editor       Jon Kurtz

BABSONIAN—1969
50th Edition
Foreword

The 1969 Babsonian Staff welcomes all those adventurers seeking an original experience while fleet ing through these 200 some odd pages of expression and impression. Each page's intent is to find for the observer his niche in the collegiate environment. Through your journey you will find that Babson is a dynamic community: Changing physically, and to some extent philosophically, but not once losing sight of its primary goal—superior management training.

Fifty years to most of us seems a long time, but to a college such as Babson it marks only a beginning. As we dedicate this 50th Edition to our school's past and future we can barely imagine what the next fifty years will bring. To gain an historical perspective we strive to give the reader a glimpse of the highlights of our first fifty years of evolution.

The Babsonian as an integral part of this college's development cannot be divorced from the context in which it lives or it will cease to be what it purports—representative.

The yearbook then should be—intriguing, creative, technically excellent and reflective. Herein is our interpretation of that objective.
Table of Contents

Impressions ......................................... 4
Graduates ........................................ 33
Faculty ............................................. 65
Administration .................................... 82
Sports ............................................... 95
Organizations ..................................... 127
Greeks ............................................. 159
Advertising ........................................ 181