Survey Shows Grad Hiring Slow

GENERAL OUTLOOK

The demand for college men is not keeping pace with the general business upturn in New England. Considerable caution is being shown by New England companies in their recruitment of college personnel, with many companies adopting a wait-and-see attitude regarding the hiring of June graduates. These are among the findings of the Semi-Annual New England Salary and Employment Survey just released by Everett W. Stephens, Dean of Students and Director of Placement at Babson Institute. This survey is made semi-annually with the cooperation of the New England Council, 162 member companies of the Council participated in the current survey.

The greatest improvement in business reflected in this survey is found among metal manufacturers and fabricators. Of the 57 companies in this category, 81 expect business to show improvement; 6 expect business to remain on a high plateau; only 2 anticipate decline. The only other categories in the study hinting at possible declines are textiles and consulting engineers; but even so many textile and engineering firms anticipate improvement in business than decline. Every other category of New England business—machine tools, chemicals, electronics, paper, insurance, banking, and utilities—expect improvement over last year. The least improvement indicated by the survey will be in banking and paper manufacturing; but in both these categories business will remain on a high plateau.

JOB OUTLOOK

While the outlook is for good general improvement of New England business, companies are approaching the hiring of college graduates with considerable caution. The bulk of replies indicates much of New England management has not yet decided whether it will hire more college graduates this year or not. Among the 27 metal fabricators, for example, about one-third of the companies will hire the same as last year; about one-half have not yet determined their personnel needs. The balance is divided between hiring more graduates this year, and hiring none. This is a typical pattern for other industries with the exception of banking and public utilities. Many companies in these two categories will hire no additional help this year.

Best opportunities for business and liberal arts graduates are suggested in insurance, metals manufacturing, machine tools, and electronics.

ALUMNI INVITE STUDENT BODY

Babson students have been invited to attend meetings of their local alumni clubs, as well as those held by clubs within commuting distance of the campus. Not only does this afford undergraduates and graduate students opportunities to become acquainted with many local businessmen, but also forms the basis for active participation in future business, community, and alumni activities within the student's home town or the city in which he plans to work following graduation.

In addition, future alumni should find such evenings well-spent, for most clubs have been successful in staging unusually stimulating and informative programs for their meetings and nearly all schedule occasional parties for members and their wives and dates.

PAST EVENTS

Among the outstanding events on the calendar during the past few months were addresses by a former officer of the submarine Service, Welf, now a nuclear power instructor at the Navy's New London submarine school (Submarine Club) and by an officer of the Air Defense Command, who presented a detailed and illustrated discussion of air defense.

Babson's 1959, and according to all reports, greatest, Winter Carnival is a thing of the past. The Carnival was kicked off with the Mayoralty final campaign and election in Knight Auditorium on Thursday night. Each candidate presented a program of skits and delivered a final campaign speech. The rousing proceedings were highlighted by the abundance of imported female entertainers and supporters.

CARNIVAL BALL

The Friday night formal dance was the high point of the weekend. Held at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston, the men of Babson and their dates waltzed away the evening to the music of Jack Edwards and his orchestra. At the intermission Sarah Vaughan thrilled the gathering with a truly delightful display of vocal selections. Jack Morris, the new Mayor of Babson, then crowned the Carnival Queen, Miss Barbara Orr of Lasell Junior College. Parties preceding, during, and after the dance completed the initial day of the Roaring Twenties Weekend.

Student Council Reps Missing

Beginning with this issue, the Globe-News will print the names and section numbers of all Student Council members absent at the previous week's meeting. This move has been made necessary due to the deplorable situation confronting the council.

Meetings have been consistently held up or not held at all due to lack of a quorum. The February 19 meeting was cancelled after being delayed for an hour in hopes that a quorum would be present. The February 26 meeting started fifteen minutes late for the same reason.

In the hope that publication of the names of absentees will arouse interest on behalf of the student body and the councilors, please note the following:

JAZZ AT THE CRYSTAL ROOM

By LEONARD LYNCH

In the coming weeks we will present the following stars, Count Basie, George Shearing, Dizzy Gillespie, and Dave Brubeck. Martin "Boots" Munselli heard this announcement he would hear that it was Birdland or even Storyville, but the fact is that it is progress to be presented at the Crystal Room in Milford. The question that now enters your mind is where is this place? To the joy of all jazz fans at Babson, it is on Route 16, 18 miles from Wellesley.

WIDESPREAD FAME

Through the efforts of "Boots" Munselli the Crystal Room has developed into one of the hottest jazz clubs in the area, if not the state. "Boots", a highly respected man for Stan Kenton, started club about two years ago, with his combo as the main attraction. As the talent spread from Boston and surrounding areas was brought in. Herb Pomeroy and his new band was the first "name", soon followed by the petite Japanses pianist, Yoshiko. By this time the interest had spread as far as Boston and at the Sunday night concerts the audience might range from Boston business men to college students from Worcester.

SALARIES OFFERED

In answer to the appeals of the fans "Boots" contacted his old boss, Stan Kenton, and asked for a one night stand. The reception was spectacular and the hall was packed to capacity at least one hour prior to the starting time. With a format such as this the policy was swiftly revised and now at least twice a month a big name star makes the scene at the "Room".

SURE SATISFACTION

The new policy, combined with the old, will provide satisfaction for the most demanding jazz fan. Whether you like the established or the prospective stars I'm sure you will want to visit this new and exciting club.

New England industry ranges from $450 to $500. Business administration and liberal arts majors can expect $600 to $800 offers. For those coming up from the east coast area, pays competitively. It just isn't as aggressive as national organization.

There is a danger in the fact that conservative New England management will possibly not begin to make greater demand for graduates until late in the spring or early in the summer. This danger lies in the fact that since November New Hampshire colleges and universities have been flooded by middle sized and large corporations from other parts of the country.

JAZZ IMPRESSIONS

BY CHARLES CAPPERS

One of the truly inspiring aspects of jazz has been the resurgence of Herb Pomeroy's band from obfuscation to national prominence. There is no denying that this band may someday stand alongside Basie and Ellington as the top jazz band. You just have to go down to the stable any Tuesday or Thursday night to understand the fact. The fact that this band as such could emerge at all is in itself a great delight. I have had the pleasure of following them since coming to Boston and the development has been phenomenal. They already have one album that has been among the best sellers in jazz and two more have been released. How did this band come about?

EARLY HISTORY

Herb Pomeroy is best remembered for his brief stay with Stan Kenton. After leaving Kenton, he returned to Boston to teach. A group of musicians from Boston began working at the Stable and there...
There has been a rumor going around the campus for the last few days that soccer may be dropped from the athletic schedule next year. This story may not be a rumor, but nevertheless a group of people are concerned that it is only a rumor, for there will be no intercollegiate sport on the campus. The fall of the year around here is usually very nice weatherwise; it is the season of the year when the students like to get out and participate in competitive sports.

A third reason that it should not be dropped is that we will have thoroughly enjoyed every game that we have played. To win or lose is immaterial, but nevertheless a group that has played thoroughly enjoyed every game that they have played.

A fourth reason is that the students who have made up the roster this season have been very enthusiastic about their sport and have gone to the games with enthusiasm.

Thirdly, the general consensus was that the people who have made up the roster this season have been very enthusiastic about their sport and have gone to the games with enthusiasm.

Another reason why this sport should not be dropped is that all the students in the school body and the players who have made up the roster this season are very enthusiastic about their sport and have gone to the games with enthusiasm.

The best fraternity float. The bean bag tossers were heads down in the fourth quarter with a score of 43-15. At the end of the season, the entire student body looked forward to participating in the sport next year because they expected to have a good team.

The brothers scored first right at the end of the first half when Sarnicercio passed to Phil Rolph for the score.

If the decision to drop the sport has been made, I hope that the people who have made up the roster this season have been very enthusiastic about their sport and have gone to the games with enthusiasm.

The students had a chance to see the musical comedy "The Boyfriend" in the Wellesley High School Auditorium. The Wellesley High School Drama Guild presented the musical and provided music for the afternoon. The band gave a set when the meeting opened at 1:25.

Weigh the pros and cons and wish to participate in soccer because it is one of our most popular sports, but like soccer it is very important that we drop. A couple of last year's team members have mentioned that they were looking forward to participating in this sport in the years to come because they expected to have a good team.

Mr. Cooke elaborated on the benefits of insurance selling as well as the various types and brands of insurance available in insurance.

Mr. Elliott spoke on the advantages of the agency. He described this as the type of work to get into if one wishes to become self-employed.

The Delta Sigma Pi brothers gave their pledges a chance to pay them back for the great services they have rendered. They are planning to provide enough funds to keep the band playing for an extra hour.

The brothers scored their only touchdown on the last play of the game when Dick Gordon passed fifty yards to Bill Wilson.

On February 13 the Blue and Gold took up where it left off on the Wednesday before and promptly proceeded to roll over Adams. Led by Dick O'Meara's driving baskets and Bob Ready's rebuffing work AKPsi led at half time by the score of 48-15. At the end of the game the score was 78-39 in favor of AKPsi.

Another reason why this sport should not be dropped is that all the students in the school body and the players who have made up the roster this season are very enthusiastic about their sport and have gone to the games with enthusiasm.
