ALUMNI DEPARTMENT
A Message from the President of the Alumni Association

WITH the class of 1928 safely conducted to the threshold of the world of finance, commerce, and industry, Babson Institute passes its eighth birthday. Each year has witnessed a substantial growth, not only in number of students enrolled and physical equipment, but what is more important, in prestige and academic standing. Today Babson Institute commands a recognized position in the educational field of business administration.

This position has been attained by a combination of circumstances including Mr. Babson's benevolence and will to see it through, Dr. Coleman's fine administration, the sincere and capable efforts of the faculty, and finally and perhaps chiefly the calibre of the alumni itself. The year we spent at Babson's has become a vital part of our very makeup and whether consciously or not is reflected in every important decision we make. Hence, it follows that as we succeed as individuals in meeting the problems of daily life, so does our alma mater steadily gain in recognition from an ever widening circle.

We owe it to ourselves to keep in touch with the Institute and to do everything in our power to help it to ever greater accomplishments. Manifestly, one of the easiest and best ways of doing this is to be an active member of the alumni association.

C. C. CLAYTON.

Mr. Millea's Message to the Alumni

IT is now nine years since Mr. and Mrs. Babson founded the Institute and the last year of the decade witnesses a transition unequalled in the history of education.

Starting from an idea without precedent, housed in the old home of the founders, the Institute so proved itself that the end of the first year found us moved into quarters tripled in size. Three more years and we found ourselves in a beautiful spot, plenty of room for expansion and ideally located for the satisfactory pursuit of our purpose.

Our most fortunate asset is the loyalty and support of those who have gone out to take their places in their chosen fields. Not only are we stationed here secure in the knowledge that the alumni are with us, but a majority of every class is in constant contact with us. Year by year we receive new assurances of good wishes and that loyal support which proves our institutional idea.

It has been a difficult task to organize a widely scattered alumni into a unified body. During the year just past, the Alumni President, C. C. Clayton, put time, effort and thought into the administration of his office with most gratifying results. No backward step must be taken. This, the beginning of the tenth year, must start with a firm decision to keep on.

It is necessary to have organized and frequent news service for alumni; this will be done.

It is necessary to have organized and better placement service; this will be done.

It is necessary that co-operation for the benefit of the alumni prosperity be organized and improved; this will be done.

It is necessary that we have frequent visits from the alumni to the end that those of us who carry on here may be still further encouraged. We are happy that this is already a habit with many.

JOHN E. MILLEA.

EDITOR'S NOTE

It requires but little projecting into the future to visualize the time when a Babson Institute Alumni Association will uniquely, yet positively, be of decided benefit to all members. It is with this idea that we, the editors, have established an alumni department which will not only perpetuate each year's graduation, but also serve as a more strengthening medium for an Alumni Association which will inevitably come.

"Epoch in Florida's Educational History"

SUCH was the statement made by Judge S. S. Holland to the first graduating class of Webber College at Babson Park, Florida.

Webber College, founded by Mrs. Roger W. Babson on the same principles and ideals as its big brother, Babson Institute, successfully completed its first year as an educational institution on April 11, 1928.

Knowing the value of Babson Institute training, we congratulate Mrs. Roger W. Babson upon founding such an institution for women.
1927 COMMENCEMENT

As on those evenings in the early eighteen hundred's when Longfellow and his friends gathered around the fire place at the Inn in Sudbury, Massachusetts, and told the stories known to us as the Tales of the Wayside Inn, in like manner did the Class of '27, gather at this famous old inn with their many friends on the evening of June 11, 1927, in order to bring to a fitting close another school year by relating the stories which made that year in our lives so eventful.

Our good friend, Mr. Matthews, filled the position of Toastmaster and his usual humor added greatly to the success of the occasion. President Coleman commenced the speechmaking, followed by Edward S. Peet of the Alumni, F. J. Hengesch, Jr., President Le Grande Skinner of the Class of '27, and Myron T. Pierce of the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Edith Balson Webber then closed the program most appropriately. We must not forget that our Tennis Champion, Bob Wigglesworth, was presented with the Burdick Cup, and that "I Fell in Love With A Pair of Blue Eyes," was rendered most effectively by Carlton Mauthe and Bill Potts, the composer and writer respectively, assisted by Miss Katherine Bophy at the piano. Shortly after the party adjourned, in order that the Babson Babes might obtain the benefits of time in summerland before attending the Barcalantrac Sermon the following morning. The question is: Did they?

On the following Sunday morning those members of our class who held the fear of God in their hearts attended the Barcalantrac Sermon, delivered by Rev. Stanley Ross Fisher at the Wellesley Congregational Church. Dr. Fisher's message was most appropriate for the occasion.

At last the eventful day of June 13 arrived, and, at 8:00 P. M., the Class of '27, gathered for the last time at the Wellesley Hills Unitarian Church for the Eighth Annual Commencement of Babson Institute. The class, thirty-five in number, representing thirteen States, the District of Columbia and Canada, was the largest yet graduated from the school. The exercises opened with an organ prelude by Miss Kingbury, after which William A. Hirs, Jr., representing the student body, delivered a very effective salutatory and benedictory message. The Commencement Address, "A Three-fold Challenge to Modern Education," by Dr. Payson Smith, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, was most fitting, considering the principles of education followed at Babson. Dr. Smith stated that the first two years of college are sufficient to give a student a cultural background and to orient him to his future. The last two years, Dr. Smith feels, should be devoted to a definite training for the business of life, in a more explicit manner than is now being done by most colleges. Following this most interesting address, Carlton Mauthe again demonstrated his musical talent on the piano, and then at last we received those diplomas. The benediction was given by Rev. Walter S. Swift. Miss Kingbury played the Postlude, and it was all over.

How quickly those nine months passed! It hardly seemed possible, but it was true. The Eighth Class from Babson had entered into the business world, and, as we battle the knock's and strive to obtain our goal by applying the principles learned at our Alma Mater, we shall always look happily back on the days spent there together.

CLASS OF '27,
By G. A. CRAFTS.
