Czech Refugee Guest Speaker
At Assembly
The assembly on January 19th will consist of a talk by Roman J. Halla, a Czech refugee who has gained considerable knowledge of the American scene during his years in the city. He was political refugee in his early twenties, a medical student at Charles University in Prague when communism took over by the Communists. As a member of the Catholic party, Mr. Halla was active in political affairs, and was at length expelled from the University (Prague University) for attempting to bring against the Communists. He then began to work for an underground paper (Prave Praha), and did some writing and transmitting of American news articles. He escaped after a time to the U.S. Zone of Germany, where he spent a year as a political refugee.

By the help of his brother (an American citizen) and his mother, he arrived in the United States under the D.P. act in the summer of 1948. He is now working as an assistant chemist for the Hercules Powder Company in Delaware, and hopes to resume his medical studies at an American medical school next fall.

Mr. Halla’s political interests have not diminished; he speaks much of his time in giving talks to local organizations (such as the Catholic Community Center, B.C.C. and other far left) and in furthering the cause of the anti-Communist groups in Czechoslovakia.

F.A.C. Meeting With Dr. Ford
Next Monday evening, January 23rd, at 7:30 P.M., the Foreign Service Club will have its weekly meeting in the Old Ballroom, and to which each member is requested to bring a friend. The program consists of a discussion on the Diplomatic Relations between the U.S. and Russia, by Bob Hore, and vice president Graham Van der Wolk, and which of course, will be followed by an interest in the affairs of the organization.

One of the most important activities of Bill in his present position of Treasurer, is the collection of the annual dues of the Finance Club. Bill is quite strongly that “the rule should be that each member brings his dues to his college, and that no member of such a group should ever pay any personal obligations of the club. It is elected; namely, to serve the student body.”

Bill’s important activities in the Finance Club are: Treasurer of the Office of International Trade by the Departments of Commerce, and in turn disseminated to the students in the United States concerned with international trade. This meeting is very interesting and we hope that many will attend.

Undercurrent In Coal Industry

Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of articles on current business problems written by Dr. Richard F. Burtis, former Babson professor of finance and now a member of the Babson Institute faculty. Mr. Walter H. Carter, consultant, is the guest columnist for this issue.

Recent events in the utilization of coal have prompted the question, "Will the coal industry ever recover from the strike?" For the past one hundred years, coal has been the mainstay of the country. However, the last coal strike has been difficult to overcome. The strike has been a series of power plays with a power struggle between the coal miners and the coal operators. The strength of the miners has been enhanced by increased union membership. In association with increased strength, the miners have shown a willingness to use their power to force concessions from the operators. The operators, on the other hand, have been forced to meet the demands of the miners. The recent strikes have been a direct result of increased union membership. Our Mutual Enterprise

I have a number of somewhat unrelated things that I would like to mention in this week's column. First of all, my pleasure in hearing from a number of the alumni, who tell me that they are making a success of their careers in business and that their oldest friend is still their Babson friend. Secondly, I am as pleased as I can be to hear that Mrs. Smith and her husband have been married for 30 years. I certainly believe that this will be the case!

We have a new president in the office of the Babson Alumni who is a former Babson student. He is an active and enthusiastic alumnus who is well represented by his handsome and well-dressed son. He is a lawyer by profession and is a member of the Babson Alumni Club.

Babson Five Beaten By L.T.I.

The Green and White hoopsters, crippled by academic injuries, lost their third game in a row last Tuesday night, this time to Lowell Techies at Lowell. Ten-for-ten shooting in the first half of the game was the result of making L.T.I. do it as bad as it looks. A lot of Babson men did not begin to play basketball at this season's height. When they were tried to two foul shots for the first 31 minutes until Bob Deprayer broke for a 2-pointer from outside with the score at the time 16 to 2 in favor of Lowell. After the halftime minutes, Lowell hit all the way to pull with a minute left in the half but half three quick baskets by Lowell made the final score 24 to 11.

During the first half Lowell had used a very effective indistinguishable strategy and the hearts very gladly in Babson was unable to get one rebound under his own basket. Only 29 shots were taken at the hoop by Babson during the first half and that made which must be much lower than the num-

Lowell opened the third period very quickly and after five minutes Well Turner was forced out of the game on personal, the score at the time being 11-13 in favor of Lowell. Close checking all over the floor by Lowell seriously hampered the Babson scoring throughout the second half of the game. Lowell applied pressure until the close of the period, a fourth period Babson drive was broken by Paddy and Shump but the Lowell second string held off the driving during the rough period to make the final score 17 to 15.

"Chuck" Stump was the high scorer for the Green and White as he hit for 17 points. 16 shots were attempted, and converted 14 of 22 foul shots in a busy night at the charity stripe. If Babson can overcome their first game in succeeding games they will win but they will have to start from the opening window to accompli-

Mass Mutual Mutual Life Insurance Company in Springfield is building a large new addition and has excellent opportunities for men interested in group plans. With the spread of social security programs, pension plans, etc., Mass Mutual has had its quota filled and is now open only in sales promotion of group insurance but also in accounting and other lines. Mr. Stephens talked at Mass Mutual with Wilbers Antell '51 who has made a good reputation not only for himself but for Babson.

Bill Weir has just completed his training program with T&W Bros. In Springfield for about two months. He is the origin of the organization says, "If you have any more men like this, all, we would like to talk with them."

Another man doing especially well on the job who was visited by Mr. Stephens is Walter Waton of the class of '48. Walter's method in the Planning departments of Travelers. Walt has spent sufficient training in the trainings program with men with master's degree in college and constitutions. M.T., Truck, Wharton, etc. Walt is regarded to be meeting the requirements and in so doing placing Babson in a favorable position with Travelers.

Nevertheless, as the undercurrent of the event just discussed becomes stronger, both parties are having to experience the emptiness of collective bargaining. In such a party, each individual party can play in solving this question. Historically, it has been shown that these programs offer a poor tradition of mutual understanding.

The passage of the Taft-Hartley Act has been the assistance given collective bargaining. It is significant to note that the NRA and of the coal industry inasmuch as the UMW leadership and the operators have had stiff competition in the train-

...whereas as the immediate victories of $15.00 per day and in textile manufacture, managetment and labor have learned that the problem and mutual appreciation of the constructive roles each party can play in solving this question. Historically, it has been shown that these programs offer a poor tradition of mutual understanding.

This year's program included a dance as well as the film. The dance was held in the convalescent home and was attended by several students and faculty members.

The dance was held in the Convalescent Home. The many gifts and refreshments were a service to the children, while at the same time, the ambience of the dancers was needed as well badly the perfect gift.
