The Effects Of The Draft

Last week's first BEAVER edition stated that the current issue would include an extensive coverage of Dr. Richard B. Drury's and Dr. Joseph O. Hirst's speeches at the conference on "The Draft and Your Future." Because this is a subject of vital interest to all of us, BEAVER will continue to cover this topic until we are better informed just where they stand regarding the draft and your future.

The Conference, which attracted some 311 members (of whom approximately one-half were college presidents), promised to be of great value to college presidents, secretaries of education, and other officials responsible for educational policy, and for governmental officials, cooperatively to plan for the effective utilization of the colleges and universities, both for the long range future and for the present immediate need. It is hoped that through each joint planning, both principles and policies could be agreed upon as a basis for future action.

By Raymond R. Allen, President, University of Washington, Seattle, President of the Conference, and M. E. Boynton, Executive Director of the American College Student Union. The conference was held in Seattle, December 26-28.

The conference provided an opportunity for officials engaged in student affairs to meet and exchange ideas and to discuss student affairs. The conference was held in Seattle, December 26-28.

These of you who have been up on the hill this past week watching the basketball game that the boys have been playing. It is in the time of 34-34. PMS with an of-er score of 34-34 against the defensive team was put in place by new men constantly while PMS only attempted to halt the sudden score along lead before the attack to the high score, which was made by both teams. Recommone Interceded...

Boston Has It!

By BARRY JEFFRIES

Well, the tryout night seems to have been successful, and the weekend agenda is about to begin—so you can be prepared for the big events this October weekend.

During the round of auditions, we found that quite a few of the students were afraid of the camera. In fact, I thought we might be interested in hearing about some of them. If you don't have the courage to try the neighboring column.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN

If you like music, there's plenty here right now. Gilbert and Sullivan are available in the Opera House with their comic operas, acted by a superb cast this weekend including the "Pirates" and "The Mikado." Later on, the "Mikado" and the "Gondoliers" are coming.

At the Meadows, turning to even lighter things, Charles Wakefield is still ranting, and whatever, I think you'll enjoy his band. Only unfortunate thing is that if you're dining in the slow times, Charlie is not your man, as his basic beat is a quicky and you then get a real workout for your money!

THOMAS AND BAND

Have we any intellectual moxie on campus? Prew sure we must have, and for those inquisitive Tommie Blanchard's and his 8 piece London Band will be resident at Symphony Hall on Carpenters Week. They are really superb, having been highly acclaimed across the nation. If you're coming around to the rowdy activity, why not go to the symphony concert and enjoy playing no music? I think you'll find that you're in for a treat that's exquisite.

Next week I'm going to blah about the group 4—announcing something; but talking about the section, see the Charlie Chaplin movie "City Lights" at the Colossus Theatre. It's perfect for the dramatic and the ridiculous—though not the sublime, and it's currently running at the Chicago Cinema on Huntington Avenue. And for you, you, you, seeing "The Big Sleep" by Robert Donat which several week at the Community Playhouse. It's powerful and moving. So far for now, and have a "good" weekend.

The Society for the Advancement of Management held its first meeting of the year last week to talk over plans and study this October weekend event. In order to get people who are interested in the Club a chance to see how it is operated and to meet the fellows who are already members, we have another meeting on October Thursday, at 6 p.m. in the Cupboard. All interested members are invited to attend this meeting.

S.A.M. is one of the youngest Clubs on campus and it has proved to be extremely beneficial to past members. It offers the members a chance to meet new students and faculty and it supplements the courses in school with informative talks on business men who have experience in their respective fields. The members of the Club also go on field trips to factories throughout New England in order to see how the finished products are made.

Mr. R. W. Blake, the Director of Personal and Placement, will be the first speaker of the year at the time of the October 10th Open Meeting. His subject (which at the present cannot be divulged) will prove of interest to all students. Via Tomaino, "S.A.M. President, states, "We are looking forward to meeting all those who are interested in our Club."

ALPHA CHI EPSILON

On Tuesday evening, Alpha Chi Epsilon held its first open meeting of the fall term. There were approximately 16 prospective members present in addition to the regular members. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Walmsley who is the Director of the Department of Business, Kent, Willard, and Company of Boston. His talk was on the history of the Alpha Epsilon Club and what it does for the member chapters. There were also short talks by Mr. Hinckley, Mr. Carpenter, and several members of the Pastoral Council.

The meeting broke up into small informal discussion groups after the talks and refreshments were served.

The Music Club will have its first open meeting during the month of October or date as yet unspecified. It will be held at Occidental Hotel, and it will be attended by the students and those who are interested in joining. There will be a short selection of several songs and refreshments will be served.

At this meeting the following functions will be announced. It has been thought possible that there might be a Club Day and a large and popular event sometime during this term.

Meetings of the Music Club are open to all who are interested. Everyone is welcome to attend.
