Babson Men in Business

By Bob Wagnar

Following a most cogent reference by Brown University, followed by a reference by Babson College, a conference was held of all the businessmen of the Babson College Student Council at the offices of the Student Council. The conference was attended by William B. Baine, Mr. W. H. Stephens, and Mr. F. W. Scribner, all of whom were present.

Stephens Covers Jobs:

Seniors Hear Advice

Knight Auditorium was the scene of the College's last assembly, attended by Senior members. Among the speakers was Mr. H. M. Armitage, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who spoke on the subject of "The Basis of the College Education for Engineering." Mr. Armitage urged the importance of having a broad education in order to become a successful engineer.

"In the United States," he said, "the colleges of engineering are rapidly becoming more numerous, and the competition for places is becoming keen. Therefore, it is essential that students should have a thorough grounding in the fundamental sciences and mathematics before entering the engineering school."

He also emphasized the need for practical experience in engineering work before entering the professional world.

Mr. Armitage concluded his address by expressing the hope that the students would take advantage of the opportunities offered by the college and make the most of their education.

Students Get Licenses

At the Student Council meeting last week, President T. F. Duggan brought out the fact that the original license was extended to May 31st, 1921, and that the renewal would be necessary to operate the college.

The new license, which covers the period from April 1st to June 30th, was issued to the college by the local authorities.

EVERETT STEPHENS

. . . S.M.A. Speaker

The representative of every man in the class of 1948 and 1949 will be selected in a recent visit to this office. The selection will be made by the Student Council, and the name of each representative will be notified to the entire class.

The Student Council is responsible for the smooth operation of all student activities and for the representation of the student body on all campus matters.

Mr. Stephens went on to tell of the activities planned for the coming year, including trips to other colleges, social events, and other extracurricular activities.

A.F.L.'s Green Speaks

"We are the last stronghold of the free enterprise system and the free enterprise system is the strongest of all our country's institutions," said Mr. H. M. Armitage, President of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The conference was held last Friday and was attended by 200 members of the labor movement. Mr. Armitage added that the AFL is assuming an important part in the struggle for freedom and democracy.

"We must expand our democracy at home if we are to expand our democracy abroad," he said.

Mr. Armitage also stressed the importance of the AFL in the current period of political and economic change.

"The AFL is the only organization that can put the oppressed and underprivileged of the world into action," Mr. Armitage said. "It is essential that we work together to make the world a better place for all people.

"We must work together to build a better world for all people," Mr. Armitage concluded.

Health Program Results

Because there have been numerous reports regarding the outcome of the current health program, the President, Mr. Duggan, has decided to publish a statement of the results. For the bene-

"The health program started with a new policy of emphasizing health promotion and prevention. The results have been encouraging.

"A concerted effort was made to improve the health status of all faculty members and their wives.

Dining Hall Reminders

These students who desire to eat on campus during weekends are requested to make reservations with the Dining Hall Office in advance of their arrival.

Also, Sunday noon meals tickets cannot be obtained at the Telephone Office prior to 11:30 p.m. The reason for this is that an adequate amount of food is available only for that meal.

Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Student Council Attendance

At the last meeting of the Student Council on October 11th, 11 members were present, along with the principal and the secretary.

Through the total enrollment is fewer in number, the students come from all the scattered corners of the globe. Thirty-eight States are represented as well as 18 foreign countries.
The Juniors Caught It...

Two weeks ago, the Junior Class, after much discussion and such statements as "We don't have time to tire our voices out in the election yet," "It was the fault of the Constitution," etc., decided to run a ticket of its own. But, on account of the resounding nominations, there were six candidates running for (two of these unsanctioned). When the nominations were closed, the girls, as usual, got eight candidates (an additional candidate for presidet with 254 votes). The Junior Class, however, seems to believe that the nomination should never have been opened. When it is realized that some Inter-Campus classes now do it twice a week it seems to mean that the resigning of nominations was simply the work of a small pressure group. To repeat once more, this "Class has fallen asleep during these three months to such an extent that it almost seems beyond repair." This is verified by the response for candidates and the lack of really active campaigning (in addition to the same old pretenses) on most of the part of the candidates.

By this time the road, the election will be over and instead of an election, there will be a resignation. Their work will be doubly difficult with the new lethargy now evident in Class. It is in order to disturb this that new offices this Class will spring out of it! Can they?

...Gave It To The Frosh

Maybe this corner has it wrong, but the lethargy of the Junior Class is the result of the frosh being elected 1929. The Frosh have been noted wisely thus far for their lack of interest in school affairs, chiefly athletic. Participating in this for the reason that is the best way of having the Director of Student Activities (although since modified) hold the office for two years. The Frosh were never more clearly of this phase of campus life. If the basic principle which binds this Class as uncommon and indifferent is wrong, the BEAVER will be the first to admit it. How- ever, if it is, it is.

(Editors' Note: No, you needn't go at us! We would like to congratulate the following: Mr. Ole and the next three years for it."

TheATER

The first week of the season will kick in the footlights of the Chippewa Theatre. Each show will be a hit in the director's mind, and hopefully a series of outstanding successes with Seniors and Conferences!"

COnigulations Extended

Last Friday, one of the 6th Annual Business Conference sponsored by the College of Business Administration, the editors would like to find out exactly what makes the Institute task. His mes- sage was clear, "The function of a leader for any of the most important aspects of the class is the problem."

Our Mutual Enterprise

Boston, Massachusetts

Nothing would better serve the interests of the city than to arouse public dis- cussion of the desirability of extending the boundaries of this new city. The Boston editorial of February 19 is a valuable contribution to this discussion. Our opinion is that the Boston editorial was well timed and well expressed. Truly it is vital to the survival of human freedom that the people of this great city should agree with this, and Boston Institute accordingly soke. In this document, our open positive affirm- ation of the democratic values.

Boston Institute was founded thirty-one years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Babson for the purpose of educating competent, responsible business leaders firmly grounded in the moral values of modern Western society. This is possible because of the students. They are very interested in the preparation of the next generation of leaders for a world threatened by totalitarianism. Since its founding, the Institute has been able to do so because of the dedication of the faculty and the continuing support of the Babson family. The Institute is a private, non-sectarian institution that is committed to providing a rigorous, liberal arts education that prepares students to become effective leaders in their respective fields. The Institute's curriculum is designed to provide students with a strong foundation in the liberal arts, as well as a solid understanding of the principles underlying the democratic process. The Institute's faculty is composed of experienced professionals who are dedicated to the success of each student. The Institute is proud of its legacy of fostering ethical leadership and excellence in public service. The Institute is proud to be a part of the Babson family and the larger community of Babson Park, Massachusetts. We are committed to providing a rigorous, liberal arts education that prepares students to become effective leaders in their respective fields. The weather last Tuesday afternoon hadn't been too kind. The wind was blowing from the west and the grey, gloomy sky made it seem as though the weather wasn't about to get better. But the prospects for a good game seemed to brighten as the game began.

O G S And P M S 14-14

Park Manor South and Off Campus Senior, battled each other a 14-14 tie. Each team scored in the third quarter trying to win.

MACER RAMBLES

In the second quarter, Macon pulled a beautiful, Soldiers, dodging, zoning man, taking the kick-off right over the goal. Tarken tried to kick the ball in for the extra point, making the score 7-7.

PLAYOFF SCHEDULE

The tie was played off yesterday and proved to be a close faceoff in this "crucial" in a special edition of the game.

TURKEN'S RECOVERY

In the last period after the Junior again faced booth, Bob Hallman, after taking a pass, ran a signe running through the entire Junior team for the fifth touchdown. The extra point try was missed. School, Bob Hallman recovered the next kickoff on the Junior thirty yard line. On the first play the ball was stopped near the Wall Turner's head, but got back around it, and entered the Junior eleven yards. Three down the short field, and just as the ball was stopped, the letterman from which Wall Turner torso to Dick Turken for the score.

SKEELS AND GRASS

Strictly after the second quarter opened, Tom Sillman intercepted a pass and went twenty-five yards for the second score, with Joe Tarken's spectacular punt for a point extra expected to make the score 13 t 0 at the half.

B 8 Only Wins 25-0

Bryant found itself too far ahead after Bryant defenders branched out on an early win over the high-spirited Off Campus Senior last Monday by a score of 38 to 0. Bryant kicked off on the Junior 34 yard line. Bryant still ran the ball to the 10 yard line, but the kick was blocked, going out of bounds on the fifteen yard line. Bryant receiver ran the ball down for a first down on the second but those backs a penalty. Bryant ball back again to the fifteen from which Wall Turner turned to Dick Turken for the score.

Athletic Council Meetings

The first meeting of the Athletic Council was held last Wednesday at Mr. Seabrook's home. Attending were: President Wall Turner; Hank Haskell and Bob Popp, representatives from the Intramural Council; Will Elkins, President of the Outing Club; and Roy Beaser, Sports Editor. Mr. Seabrook outlined the duties of the Council and read last year's expenditures. Ideas and suggestions were discussed and the next meeting was tentatively scheduled for Monday, October 31.

Boys 'n' Stuff

By DOUG BURNS

How low is love? Glance at the latest in feminine wear and you have the answer. I refer to her lady's neckline, which is often a sheer refinement. The newer shapes plump them into the '30 market. Of course it is not a matter of a recovery, but far as the neckline goes which isn't very far away! I am inclined to be skeptical as to its recovery. I, myself, am not endorsing a recovery program, but am only attempting to cover up this situation as impartially as possible.

The British, in their usual reserved manner, refer to this exposed section as "cleavage." This reference has been severely attacked by the R.H.O.W., more commonly known as the Right and Honorable Officers of Women's Necklines. As its president exclaimed recently: "The collapse of fashion indicates this new trend in fashion design. The British will soon realize that we have also darned the scaffold."

I can see it now, newswives will be yelling, "Get your program—you can't get a hemline from a scarlet, scarlet material." Shakespeare, if alive, might agree.

Where would all this line conclude if not they'd all be naked.

Time for us to make hay, before the sun. Con- gratulations are to be extended to Dr. Thomas Cooper, who was recently named president of Philosophy at Wellesley College and currently a member of the faculty of Radcliffe, Boston. Bobila, he will head the reception given to him in the current class of ILF as his first free week in the field of education.

the evidence is clear that Bahamen- men were better than average. There was one case that a Bahamian was not satisfactory out of all the Bahamians were present. A local attempt to get the potential of Bahamians was to keep taps. The tap habitations will probably be available in the Primrose Office soon. Anyone who wants to know some of the individual qualities and the results can check out the Primrose Office. The results in general were considered ex- ceedingly. In all of the questions, Bahaman men were rated average or better, with very few exceptions. In Summary, Bahamians were considered better than average.

COLLEGES AND COMPANIES

What does, . . . "better than average" mean? Better than whom? The only people were also asked to list the names of other colleges that their other employers had attended. At different colleges and universities were listed, among others Yale, Harvard, Wharton School of Finance, U. of Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, U. of Colo- rado, Arizona, and many other leading colleges. These were being used for some 150 leading names, e.g., American Optical Co., American Tobacco Co., Dean and Black, Burroughs Adding Machine Co., Currier & Co., General Motors, Gulf Oil Co., McCormick Chemical, NSCCO, Transfers Insurance, Sleeper, and R.R.A. Avis.

The sum of the results adds up to the fact that Bahamians are well fitted in industry. The nation is being represented by business.

Efector (Oct. 1): Mr. Washington and staff should get a reading room of a place for the free job that they have done. The survey has proved to us and to the nation that it is giving the kind of education that is desired in business. Thanks to you, Mr. Washington! We wish you a good luck. And now you follow Bahamian, let's keep up the good work!

CLUB ACTIVITY NEWS

FOREIGN AFFAIRS CLUB

The next meeting of the Foreign Affairs Club on campus will be held in the Cup 'n' Spoons on Monday, October 21, at 7:15 p.m. Students who will speak at this meeting, describing summer trips to Europe and other areas, include Mark Paoletti and Bob Tuller. Following this, Bob Underwood will speak on the history and workings of the United Nations.

PHILIPPINE CLUB

President John Bahn opened the first business meeting of the year, held in the Cup 'n' Spoons, Wednesday, October 16, welcoming new members to the Club and proposing that the organization adopt a new membership policy, calling for the payment of dues and the submission of membership applications. After a lively discussion this proposal was unanimously approved and the Secretary, Bob O'Connor, directed to study the years requirements and recommend a sum sufficient to cover the Club's expenses for the year.

Future Club, one of the oldest organizations on campus has been part of the Book Shop, the Book Bar, or the telephones set there. They are all owned by the Business and Administration Organization, a private organization, and any requests by the telephones on the tele- phone list should be addressed to that concern.

A.D.S

Last Monday, Bahn's Omega Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma was fortunate to have Mr. P. L. Lundberg, Vice-President of State Oil of America, Manager of the San Francisco Chapter of Commerce, and a former Vice-President of Stanford University, as its In- ternational President of the current season. Speaking before an audience of approxi- mately 100 students, President and Panel members, Mr. Lundberg emphasized the signifi- cance of public relations in modern in- dustry. He especially emphasized the part public relations play in determin- ing a company's relationship with the community. Following the meeting a question-and-answer period took place followed by a refreshment period. A short business meeting closed the meeting. Present at the meeting were Charles McCarty, Roger W. Reamer, Achievement Award Winner and past president of A.D.S, and Dick West, also one of last year's members.

CORRECTION

A recent article, Staff 'n' Stuff, by Doug Burns made men- tion of the fact that the Admin- istration was responsible for having the television set removed from the Snook Saloon. It should be clearly understood that Bahamians Institute has no part of the Book Shop, the Book Bar, or the telephones set there. The Institute is all owned by the Business and Administration Organization, a private organization, and any requests by the tele- phone list should be addressed to that concern.
