The Members of the Corporation of Babson College have elected Carleton G. Lane, of Portland, Maine, chairman of the Corporation. Lane, a 1936 graduate of Babson College, will replace R. Elliott Pratt Jr. '40, Boston, who will continue as a member of the Corporation.

The Members of the Corporation also announced the election of six new corporators. The new members are:

As most of you know, Mr. Hannan, Assistant Prof. of Government, is being fired from his teaching post. Over a month ago, the BABSON PRESS printed an article showing the peculiar circumstances surrounding his contract terminations and the reasons why termination has come from the administration as to why Hannan is being fired.

As one of the Students of this Institution I feel, as I think you should feel, an obligation to Mr. Hannan to protest this unfair and reasonable explanation as to why he is being fired. Not only do we owe an obligation to him, but we owe him an obligation to explain ourselves. As most of us know, Babson has a scarcity of qualified professors. To terminate a contract of one that shows the interest in Babson that Hannan shows would be bad for both our college and, most importantly, us students.

Therefore, on behalf of Mr. Hannan and ourselves, I think that he should be allowed to continue on as Professor. We would like to demand Professor Kreidel a public explanation on why Hannan was fired.

The letter to President Kreidel could be as follows:

Mr. Kreidel,
I am the student body of Babson College, respectfully request a public explanation from you as to why Professor Hannan is being fired.

The inconsistent responses from Dr. Haulder and Carpenter as to why Hannan’s contract is being terminated, as printed in the BABSON PRESS, only reinforce our belief that a public airing of this matter is necessary and would be beneficial.

Hannan has been and continues to be a contributing force towards betterment of our campus. He has been the only professor to regularly attend the recent Babson Formal functions. He has been a friend to any interesting speaker to our campus, ranging from Middle East sports to representatives of the Gay Liberation Front. He is the type of controversial professor Babson needs so badly if we, the students, are to get a balanced education. Unless Hannan’s contract is being terminated for valid reasons, we feel it not only unfair to him, but it would also cause the community a great loss.

On behalf of Professor Hannan and, most importantly, for our own, Mr. President, we request a public airing of this important matter.

Incredibly,

The tables listed above show that evaluations will be available for student personnel at the 12th and 13th February meetings. The AUA Tenure Committee is invited to these meetings, whenever it is convenient for them to do so.

The QSA hopes to enlarge this file of evaluations. In December, five Arizona Questionnaires will be distributed to each student. Please fill them out before your departure for Christmas vacation. When filling them out, please write questions where you think they are appropriate, criticize where criticism is deserved. Be as objective as possible.

What will these questionnaires be used for? (1) To give the instructors a constructive feedback concerning both their effectiveness and areas of possible improvement. (2) To provide future graduate students with an idea of what’s do, X, Y, and Z like? (3) To provide an objective, factual basis for any complements or complaints made.

To the Editor:
I am writing this letter to thank you for saying, "My mind is made up, don't confuse me with the facts." I can see why hundreds of Babson Students, past and present, have been fired in the Babson Business Press into a "crying towel" for representatives who don’t represent. What new fare will be furnished for the minority to champion?

An Editorial...

Babson Student Government Representatives have shown themselves to be less than courageous in holding to their convictions. This has severely weakened the image of the Student Government. It is difficult to sense strength in a body which exists solely on the first flexing of its legislative muscles. By vying with each other on an important issue as the scholarship proposal, the Student Government has temporarily assuaged itself of serious trouble. However, because this issue itself is not yet dead and will again be presented at the next session of the student body, the FREE PRESS extends the strength of its opinion to the Student Government (and to its weaker representatives) in the hope that this opinion will be the suicide needed to rally its waning strength.

It must be remembered that the Black man has hardly received fair or equitable treatment in American history. For over 300 years he was considered less than a secondary citizen—he, indeed he was considered a citizen at all. This should go without saying. It is difficult to say, however, that he has recently gained legitimacy. The Black man has not even forgotten his 300 years investment in America was on a return basis. The return of equality is a return at all because it has been that the man has been able to get his investment back as soon as he got off the ship. Here at Babson we have the opportunity in the form of a Black Scholarship to bring the Black Community's return from America a little bit closer than the rest of America. To deny this scholarship is, in a sense, to deny our further exploration of the Black Community. And this is hardly something that can be denied.

Babson Reaches for Relevance

The editors of the BABSON FREE PRESS have been successful in gaining the support of the Student Government, or the school administration would listen to the majority. Remember, "POWER TO THE PEOPLE!"

No, the editors of the BABSON FREE PRESS are disregarding the majority and voting as the administration has decided. The students have learned that it's not the formation of the establishment or the Administration who refuse to "listen!". It didn't take long for the representatives to catch their error and fill the Babson Free Press with forty rationalizations supposedly explaining why they really didn't think that you (the students) were interested in anything. But this is the same fine tradition the Entertainment Committee (we) was given full power to dictate the who, what, and where (Babson campus, what imagination!). For our social life and thereby succeeded in killing any hope for making Babson a place for normal means of human relations.

As one of the married students I have seen the social activities actually separate the many kinds of people who make up the whole campus. Now if our Student Government has turned the Babson Free Press into a "crying towel" for representatives who don't represent. What new fare will be furnished for the minority to champion?

AN OFFER TO SELL THE WAR IN VIETNAM

A prospectus written by Mr. Barton R. Tamar, a Wall Street lawyer, in format and legalistic language seems to be a serious document, one of the most devastating criticisms of the war which this writer has seen to date. For instance, the following quote from the Company reads primarily of acquiring and destroying real estate...The Company is also shown in financial reports, presenting Communist aggression and saving Nation’s face. The Company has written documents, treaties, or other agreements in this regard. The Company is also shown as an arbitrator in any dispute, including dominion, Nervous Nellie dolls, paper tigers and tiger claims. The Company, to promote its product, sponsors a national TV program entitled “The ABC’s of Real Estate.” It also has its own an alternate show called “Tell The Truth...”

The Bobby Film Society this week presents KING KAT. This flick, shot in San Diego, Tom Courtenay, John Mills and James Fox, is a grim comedy, a war movie, and a variation among WWII POWs. It will be shown for free, Friday night, at Knight Studio. The film is Policy Study. The PENTAGONS WATCHERS, edited by Leonard Rodberg and Derek Shaver, present the results of their investigation, a report which attacks the Pentagon and its military contractors. What the students have done is let the Pentagon hang themselves.

Moonlight afficionados had better take it easy with the illegal whiskey, according to Tom Sotul. He says he has seized quantities of the beverage recently and found it to be high in mind altering content. The stuff is dangerous. You may ask, well how does mercury get into moonshine—”Hey listen, friend, I won’t tell. Just make sure you get moonshine—don’t make it yourself. The auto radiators sometimes used to distill the whiskey, or water used from polluted streams, are two possible answers. Do you think it’s a Communist plot?

There remains to this day communities in America where the kids look like they just stepped out of an R. Crumb comic book and the scenery fits Stanley Kubrick’s conception of space. There are pockets of banyan euphoria where the head of a confirmed freak can forget Norman Rockwell’s middle-aged modern American life. Doesn’t believe what slick magazines tell you are the bases of tranquility. There are kids, and this writer think that are hacksack freaks. They include Taxo, New Mexico, Max Yasgur’s Farm, North Beach in Frisco, the East Village, Sunfun Strip, Goddard College, the Allentown lobbies, Spain, Brazil, and New York.

note to all of those people driving home for Thanksgiving—please be careful on the roads that weekend. Also U.S. 30 in Danville and Union counties, Virginia are speed traps, as is the state of Rhode Island.

Did Ye Know?

by D. R. Leed

Every once in a while one hears startling news about some sort of Gravity Research Foundation which Roger Babbush established. Yet again, if any, know anything about it. The Foundation was decided that for this article the famous Inventor Mr. William R. Eason of Babbush’s Reports and also a trustee of the Gravity Research Foundation.

As is known, our founder was very interested in the work of Sir Isaac Newton. Evidence of this is seen in the fact that our library houses Newton’s original manuscript and the world’s largest collection of his manuscripts. Mr. Babbush also vividly published the fact that his success in the field of investments basically due to his belief in Newton’s Laws of Action and Reaction. It was only natural for our founder to also be interested in Newton’s Law of Gravitation. Therefore, Mr. Babbush formed under the laws of Massachusetts a non-profit, scientific organization called the Gravity Research Foundation, Inc.

The original list of incorporators included prominent names such as Francis Francis Adams, Boston, and former Secretary of the Navy, and the late Clarence Birdseye, the inventor of Birds Eye Frozen Foods.

At the time of founding, experts at MIT calculated a location which would be relatively free from damage should a space vehicle land on dropped on Boston. Since the time only the atomic bomb had been developed, it was decided to choose a site on the radius of 65 miles of Boston. To the east was the Atlantic Ocean, and to the west and south were Worcester and Waltham. Finally in 1945, an old farm house in New Boston, was located exactly 65 miles N.W. of Boston, was purchased to be the site of the foundation.

The original ideal was to open a laboratory and carry on various experiments. However, at the time, the founders met much criticism, and because nothing had ever really been done in the field, they did not know exactly what type of lab to build. After much thought and consultation, the idea of a lab was dismissed. It was then decided that the purpose of the Foundation should be to arouse interest and encourage others to carry on research in the field of gravity.

Thus today the main purpose of the Foundation are:

1) TO STIMULATE INTEREST IN GRAVITY THROUGH AWARDS FOR ESSAYS, AWARDS ranging from $500 to $1000 are granted each year by the Trustees for the best essays on what gravity is, how it works, and how it may be controlled. These papers are judged by a group of scientists without interference from the foundation.

2) TO SERVE AS A FREE CLEARING HOUSE FOR ANYONE SERIOUSLY INTERESTED IN THE CAUSES OF GRAVITY Through carefully indexed files the foundation is able to bring together by correspondence those who have special interest in the same type of gravity problems.

3) TO HAVE A COMPLETE AND FREE LIBRARY ON GRAVITY RESEARCH OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.

To date, the Foundation has only been successful in eliciting some possibilities and old theories on gravity, however, it has started a number of large Federal grants to essay winner’s to carry on further experimentations.
