Christine Merlo is an individual who's compassion and dedication to her students, colleagues and to Babson College is so completely genuine that she is one of those people who find him or herself involved in everyone's life. The consummate team player, Dean Merlo took on two senior classes (the Class of 2000 and the Class of 2001) when the departure of a staff member (for a new job) in the Office of Class Deans left the post of advisor to the Class of 2001 open. This may not sound like much, but taking on two consecutive classes - along with all of their senior celebration and senior week activities - is a huge time and emotional commitment.

A Class Dean's work is not easy - the individuals in that office must balance empathy with responsibility. They must show understanding, while being able to challenge students. Often seen as a voice of the students, the Class Deans are called on to inform the faculty and upper level administrators of what trends, issues and feelings are being shown by the student body. Dean Merlo's assessment of student needs is usually dead on. Those who have had the opportunity to have her ear have found that she is an individual who not only hears you, but also listens to you. There is a difference.

Dean Merlo's support of the Babson College athletic department is phenomenal. Each season, she is seen at games on the fields, in the gym, at the pool or in the rink. She is an equal opportunity fan - who takes great pride in watching her students excel and her colleagues coach. She always congratulates student athletes on their on (and off) the field accomplishments, and is the first to call a coach with praise for a great team performance.

As a role model for women on campus, Dean Merlo was recognized as a Woman Who Makes a Difference at Babson College in the spring of 2000. The fact that multiple individuals, including students and colleagues, nominated Dean Merlo for this award indicates the consistently wonderful work that she does - for everyone.

For all the work and love that you have dedicated to the Class of 2001, the Babsonian Yearbook dedicates this year's book to you - Dean Christine Merlo.

Men’s Soccer
Women's Soccer

This year's Women's Soccer team endured multiple injuries through the first half of the season. Despite multiple leg injuries, many on the injured list came out to finish the year strong. Such players were Juniors Haverty and Ryan who both rebounded after leg injuries to combine for a final score of nine goals. Other contributions came from Charlene Caputo and Michele Wiernas, who each made two goals and one assist. Although there were many other contributors on the team, Jackie Biro stood out by making an impressive 178 saves and only giving up 24 goals.

Regardless of early injuries the team worked hard to improve and this evident in winning four big games near the end of the season. Coach Blinstrub described the team saying, "Without a doubt, the experience we gained this year will make us a better team in 2001."

"A positive season" - Coach Magoon

Field Hockey

This year's Field Hockey team was led under the experience of its talented senior class. Seniors Lydia and Eliza combined for an amazing 38 of the Beaver's 81 points. Linda managed to set a new record this year by scoring seven points against Salem State. Eliza also was successful by making four goals and five assists. Both these players were named to the All-New England team.

Seniors Heather and Beth made the defensive made powerhouse that managed to hold their opponents to only 24 goals throughout the season.

Additional help came from talented sophomores and freshmen. Sarah Lange tied the record of eleven assists in a single season and Deb Morris proved herself as an excellent defencer with a .873 save percentage. Coach Magoon described the team's younger talent saying, "If those players continue to work hard and develop skill...we'll be in a prime position to compete for the NCAA Tournament berth."

“Young Talent” - Coach Bennett

Volleyball

The 2000 Babson Women’s Volleyball team improved in the nine wins under new Coach Bob Bennett. Additional team successfully defeated were Smith, WPI, and Coast Guard.

Seniors Amy Ellis and Jayme Johnson lead the team combining for a total of 154 kills. Junior Michelle Malone made major contributions with 71 aces and 157 digs. Sophomores Alyson, Jill, Stephanie, and freshmen Erica and Michelle also helped the team as a whole and improved their individual skills.

Although the team ended with 9-15 record, the team improved as a whole. While having many young players, the team is fortunate to have much time to develop more experience. Coach Bennett described the team potential saying, “To elevate our game to the next level, ...we’ll need to continue to work hard and improve while taking advantage of the experience we have gained this year.”

Men's Basketball

After a rebuilding season last year that produced 9 wins, Babson College's men's basketball team is ready to take their game to the next level.

Leading the team is senior Kurt Beloff and junior Brian McCarthy. Beloff leads the team as a excellent shooter with a percentage of .467. McCarthy has added his share as a forward that averaged 14.8 points a game with 6.7 boards.

Other talent came from Giles Westie, Simon Peters, and Mark Lussier. These three men made huge contributions in the front court and are continuing to improve. Sophomores Matt Webster, Joe Colelli, Chris Michalowski, and James Secky were other players that provided additional points and talent.

Together with experienced seniors and gifted younger players, Babson has a powerful team that should stand well against NEWMAC opponents.

"A Dangerous Team" - Coach Blinstrub

Women's Basketball

Having lost six seniors to graduation two years ago, this has not reduced the confidence and determination of the women's basketball team. Coach Blinstrub described the now senior players saying, "We have a strong senior class that has enjoyed a lot of success over the past three years."

Key seniors leading the attack are Angela Botticelli, Tracy Graham, and Kim Knauf. These seniors had excellent junior campaigns and are being counted upon to bring success to the team.

The backcourt is comprised of dedicated defense Kerri Lally and Joanna Maher. Other talented players that will be playing next year are Ingrid Miller, Meredith Eddy, and Tricia Leahy. Together with these powerful players it is clear that Babson has a team that can certainly put points up on the board.

The Babson Rugby Club provides students interested in playing the grand game of rugby, a low cost, well-organized program fit for both newcomers and veterans alike. Now entering our 21st year, Babson Rugby consists of 58 members and represents Babson as one of the top contenders in Division II New England Rugby. We have more members than any other organization on campus and are completely self-governed by elected officers each year. This year, we fought a tough battle and tied for first place with Providence College and URI. With a strong freshman class, we expect the continued tradition of excellence for years to come.

Every semester we appear on the Sorenson stage and work our magic for three nights. We entertain hundreds and have a blast in the process. The Babson Players is the longest running performing arts group on campus and we were proud to present the Babson community with "Lie Cheat & Genuflect" this fall. Some called the performance "the funniest thing yet." The Players were happy to bring laughs and smiles to a full house every night through Family Weekend.

The Babson Players took first place at this year's annual organization carnival; their creativity was exemplified off stage as well, with an all-out beach theme booth, complete with swimming pool and all.

Additionally, The Players are pleased to announce their new faculty advisor, Richard Mandel. Professor Mandel has served as a great resource for the organization & they believe that his continued efforts and enthusiasm will help The Players flourish in the years ahead.

The Steering Committee is composed of six members: Jennifer Fabianski, Don Jacobson, Robyn Leventhal, Wendy Liebowitz, Mark Rowe, and Suzanne Sullivan. The original five committee members were elected freshman year and re-elected junior year, with the addition of Suzanne senior year. The mission of the organization is to promote unity within the Class of 2001, organize philanthropic, fundraising, and social events, and organize Senior Week that takes place the seven days prior to graduation. The committee does not work completely alone. There are several members of the class that serve on committees to construct and maintain the class website, help prepare for the Senior Ball and Night in Boston, and help solicit donations for the Senior Auction...to mention a few. The hard work of this committee and sub-committees contribute to the Class of 2001’s fun and fulfilling four years at Babson.

Dear Denise,

We feel very blessed and extremely happy to reach this very special day of your graduation from Babson College.

Mom and Dad want you to know just how proud we are of all your efforts, perseverance and guts that enabled you to get to this day.

You left the comfort and warmth of our home and travelled thousand of miles away, alone, striving for a better education and future successes.

May God bless and guide you in all the future decisions and paths that you choose to follow in your life.

You know that you can always, ever and forever rely on us.

Every day we count our blessings for having such a wonderful, lovely, caring and dear daughter and sister.

From a little boy, in your baseball hat, You’ve grown to a man, just like that.

You are the greatest son of them all, We watched you grow and hit that ball.

You had your ups and you had your downs. You had your smiles and you had your frowns. You never said a word, you were undeterred.

You made no excuses, you showed no fear. You just worked so hard and persevered. You never gave up, and for that we cheered.

You are the greatest, that is a fact. But even we didn’t know you’d work like that.

We are the proudest, that is understood. But even we didn’t know, you’d succeed so good!

Love, Nan and Pop

Good job! I’m proud of you for all that you have accomplished. Even though you did graduate college before me, by one day. Love, Bub

Good luck in the real world. Be safe and stay crazy. Be happy with what ever you decide to do in life. I am always here for you. Love, DJ

I love you! I’ll really miss going to college. When are we going to Italy again?
Love, Dana, your Jellybean
