At a meeting of the Bahoon Induction plan on Wednesday evening, April 4, unanimous approval was given to the long-awaited Bahoon Master Plan, a blueprint for the direction the college will take in the remainder of the 60's and the next decade. Approval of the plan comes after more than two years of study, research, and cooperation by Bahoon students, alumni, faculty, trustees, and administration concerning the future of Bahoon as an educational institution.

President Kriebel states that the Master Plan has been approved, President Kriebel hailed the action of the trustees as a giant step forward in the realization of that plan. It is time for the college to begin to shape towards the formation of the New Bahoon.

President Kriebel comments that, "This is a historic moment in the life of Bahoon. The decisions made by the trustees on Wednesday night will ultimately affect greatly every student, alumnus, faculty member, and friend of the college. A great deal of the creative imagination and planning for the future is due to the Bahoon students who are members of the present student apparatus and other committees. They worked long and hard hammering out the details of the program that they felt Bahoon should be, and the contribution of these men carried much weight in the development of the overall plan. I feel that each and every student, both those who are on the planning committee and those who made individual suggestions concerning the Bahoon Master Plan.

Specifically, what does the Master Plan for Bahoon provide for, and how will it change the character of the college? What is its present and future Bahoon students and for our college through the entire world for education?" Dr. Kriebel answered these questions as follows:

"First let me say the Master Plan is broken down into three phases, which generally are as follows: phase one provides for a broadening of the entire spectrum of the present programs. This includes desisting to the present liberal arts offerings and the establishment of liberal arts majors in certain fields; developing new management programs for both undergraduate and graduate students, including one in the area of multinational operations that would provide for the upgrading of student recruitment and ultimately include women students at Bahoon in any of the administration or the board of the faculty, inaugurating subcamps, providing for grants for research and developing additional faculty housing and recycling completely all services to our students such as providing more on-camp activities, funds for speakers, psychological counseling, and other services with faculty and administration.

Phase two provides for enriching our public relations efforts and start planning for a year-long 50th Anniversary program that would begin in October, 1969. In this phase of the plan we will also consider the long-term development of a D.R.A. program in cooperation with other institutions; take first steps toward increasing enrollment to 1,000 students by 1970; and, last, but not least, the program will accommodate all these programs with the necessary facilities for physical plant enlargement which means the construction of new facilities and the modernization of existing facilities. Approval has been given and plans are underway to return professional campus planning to get things going.

How long will phase one take? Well, some of it will be implemented almost immediately some of it will take a little longer, naturally. But the important point is we are not beyond the "thinking stage." We are fast rounding the corner of the "planning stage," and as new programs are completed they will be put into operation, and others will be implemented as promptly as possible.

Phase two is concerned with the raising of the funds necessary to finance plans for the new Bahoon. Actually, we started this phase a year ago when we employed Mr. Robert D. Freeman as director of development. The ground work is being laid now for a development program which we hope will raise a little more than $20 million dollars for enough for a new classroom building, library, faculty housing, and dormitory, and leave enough for modernization of present buildings, establishment of additional scholarships, and provision for the International Management Program. (At this point, it would be

Whether you are of age to vote or not, all Bahoon students will have the opportunity to participate on April 24 to significantly influence the course of American politics.

By invitation of TIME magazine, Bahoon shall participate in CHOICE 68--The National College Legislate Primary Election. The results of this election will have worldwide television, radio, magazine and newspaper coverage. As Robert Harris, CHOICE 68's Executive Director said, "It will be the most detailed and comprehensive vote tabulation and coverage of a primary election in history!" Over 1,000 colleges will participate in this election--representing more than 97% of the student electorate. Below is the ballot on which you will express your views. Look it over now so you can think about it and make a sensible choice on April 24.

The American people is only starting to realize the new importance of student power in shaping the course of U.S. politics. The dynamic campaign effort by college students from all over the country clearly played a vital role in Senator Eugene McCarthy's impressive showing in the New Hampshire primary. Well over a thousand students formed a network of campaign jobs--from ringing door bells and writing speeches, to driving cars and licking stamps. Many observers believe the student's enthusiasm also had a significant psychological effect on the campaign.

Reaction to this student political activism was widespread in both political parties and among political analysts. Just prior to the New Hampshire primary vote, Mary McCarthy wrote in her nationally syndicated column that McCarthy's student support was "a river of free love and young people's change he face of American politics."

Most of the election-night commentators referred to the students, and in his lead editorial, the New York Times stated that the McCarthy victory was "a testament to the efficacy of the students and other citizen who enlisted in his campaign effort.

Perhaps the most important conclusion to be drawn from this first primary election is not related either to the candidates or the issues. It is very possibly something much broader. Namely, effective, articulate..."
An Executive Has Nothing To Do EXCEPT
To DECIDE WHAT to be done; to tell somebody to do it—
To LISTEN to reasons WHY it should NOT be done; why it should be done by somebody else; or why it should be done in a different way.
To FOLLOW UP to see if the thing has been done; to discover that it has not been done.
To inquire WHY it has NOT been done; LISTEN TO EXCUSES from the person who should have done it and did not do it—
To follow up a second time to see if the thing has been done, to discover it has been done, but done incorrectly.
To point out HOW it should have been done; to conclude that as long as it has been done it may as well be left as it is,
even though it is not right.
To consider how much simpler and better the thing would have been done if he had done it HIMSELF in the first place.
To reflect sadly that if he had done it himself he would have been able to do it right in twenty minutes.
but as things turned out he himself spent two days trying to find out why it was that it had taken somebody else three weeks to do it wrong.
To do it himself would strike at the very foundation of the belief THAT AN EXECUTIVE HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH DOING!

Letters
To The Editor

To The Editor: Martin Luther King is dead. Millions pay tribute to his great works. Legends declare that the negro will be free because of his work. Nice thought.

Where were all these mourners when Dr. King needed them? Almost appears that the nation is crying crocodile tears—just to placate the enraged negro. After all, it's better than having your house burned down. And who knows, at the rate things are going, the negro may have total equality within the next hundred years. Were it possible for Dr. King to see those mourners now, I am certain that he would have nonviolently told at least half of his so-called mourners to go straight back to hell. I can't say that I would blame him, Sincerely, Philip Carlinos

Speaker
Edward L. King

Edward L. King, vice-president and general manager, New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, will present an Earl C. Sams Lecture at Babson Institute on Thursday evening, April 11th, the third in a series of lectures on the subject of executive leadership in business. The lecture will be at 8:00 p.m., in the Foxcote, Park Manor North, on the Babson campus, and is open to the public. Mr. and Mrs. King and family reside at 55 Edmonds Road, Wellesley.

A graduate of Stevens Institute of Technology, Mr. King served three years with the United States Air Force during World War II. At the close of the war, he joined the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, serving four years as an engineer. In the fifteen or so years that followed, Mr. King was advanced through various administrative levels within the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Western Electric Company, and, in 1964, was named general manager of New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. He was elected vice-president in March 1966. His subject for discussion at Babson will be, "Effective Executive Leadership: A Businessman's View."

The Sams Lecture Series is supported by a grant from the Earl C. Sams Foundation of New York.

PEACE IN THE COMMON

by T.G. Bryan

Seventy degree weather and a cloudless sky welcomed an estimated 15,000 people to a peace rally on Boston Common, sponsored by the Resistance. The peace movement in general seemed to have entered the second era of its brief history, the first being its struggle for government action. Now, however, with President Johnson’s move for Vietnam peace established, the mood has changed. The rally itself began at 10:00 A.M. and lasted for nearly three hours. Several speakers took to the platform, including Noam Chomsky of MIT, and Howard Zinn of Boston University. The highlight of the rally occurred when over 240 resisters turned in their draft cards, thus severing ties with the Selective Service System.

The form of protest in the April 3 rally was markedly different from other gatherings. The “draft card burning, kill LBJ” element was certainly not present. Instead, a mild euphoria, so to speak, enveloped the audience. In fact, even when Klansman’s acceptance of the U.S. peace offer was announced to the crowd, it was greeted with only warm applause.

What has happened, it seems, is that the people of this nation have listened to the peace advocates. They have found that genocide and military defeat are not the way to pacify Vietnam.

Perhaps the pacifists will now end their street demonstrations and will begin to live a life of peace so that others may follow their example.

Professor Howard Zinn of Boston University speaks for the Resistance at the April 3 rally on the Boston Common. Zinn was instrumental in arranging for the release of 3 American pilots captured by N. Vietnam.

Demonstrators take a break from active participation. The crowd was estimated to be in excess of 10,000 persons.

Both sides of the issue were presented - several arguments erupted behind the speakers podium.

Massed for force, the police kept a close watch as the rally progressed. It proved unnecessary, however, as no outbreaks of violence were reported.

Volunteers collected funds for the support of the resistance movement. Donations reportedly exceeded $1,000.

I HAVE A DREAM

King Scholarship Fund

Following the wake of the tragic death of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, a group of concerned Babson students have organized to create a scholarship fund. The capital for this scholarship will be solicited from the Babson student body. The scholarship, named in honor of the slain civil rights leader, will be given to a needy, Negro student.

Plans for the drive were discussed at the Student Government meeting Tuesday night. At this time, a unanimous vote of confidence was given to the group's co-chairman, Steve Bernard and Sam Meshberg. Student Government also authorized an initial donation of $500 to be given to the fund.

Further plans for the drive will be announced later in the week.
The Financial Corner

On a bleak and distant day in the near future, the Board of Governors of the Exchange traded 18,310,000 shares. The market was as expected the devastating crash which marked the end of the "prosperity" of the 1920's. The panic of almost four decades passed before that figure was reached. According to the first of April, 1968, two days later an incredible 19,290,000 shares were transacted. The market record was set. The Dow Jones Industrial Average rose sharply both days; but, as of last Friday, the market was still below its 1968 high.

Several factors account for the violence of the market's upsurge. First, many mutual funds bought heavily into the market, particularly the larger issues, and forced substantial short covering. Airlines and steel also seemed to be favorites of the funds. Second, the market had dropped almost 100 points since the beginning of the year without rallying for more than a couple of days. It is not unusual for a high volume rally to follow a two-months’ sharp decline. Third, the horror and frustration of the administration, which had been in office for several months, generated severe pessimism among many investors. This situation was dramatically changed last week. Peace, no matter how distant, is always welcomed on Wall Street. Fourth, the U.S. government's recent decision strengthened the dollar in international markets and heightened gold speculations. It appears that the dollar's challenge to the United State's dominance in world finance has shuddered and that we will not have to devalue. Fifth, it is believed that de-escalation in Vietnam will lead to a decrease in Government spending, and such action would lessen inflationary forces and add stability to the economy. Last, we will have a new president next year. It is hoped that a change in leadership will permit a quicker resolution of our present problems.

Wall Street is a graveyard for men who have tried to "out guess" history. Consequently, this column will not blindly venture into the world of crystal balls and tea leaves. It will, however, suggest that more caution be taken by investors than presently exists. While it is true that we are closer to peace in Vietnam than ever before, negotiations could last for months and leave us in a dangerous new era. Defense spending would not be curtailed until the latter stages of de-escalation, and inflationary pressures would remain a worry for the Treasury for several months following peace. Second, "paper gold" will not be a reality until voted upon by the 107 nations of the I.M.F. If not, it is possible that many middle Eastern countries will join France as a dissenting force against the I.M.F. Last, our racial crisis will, in the long run, play a major role in the development of the nation. The death of Martin Luther King imperils a peaceful settlement.

Dr. Frank C. Genovese, Associate Dean of the Graduate School of Babson Institute and noted monetary authority, recently commented that he was optimistic regarding the future of the American dollar. He noted the removal of the gold cover will help move the world towards the abandonment of gold as a monetary base but not to the point where Congress will take the attitude that it is foolish for us to buy it back. When we take this position, Canada, Britain and other leading trading nations will also abandon the repurchase of gold.

The best thing that could happen now would be for us to elect public statements from high government agencies and monetary authorities in these countries that this is, indeed, what they will do. One immensely significant event has occurred, which Dr. Genovese feels has virtually it to the U.S. dollar and which is of great significance. The event was the announcement last week by the Russians that they had discovered some very rich "gold fields." This statement was intended by them," he declared, "to allay the gold speculation in order that the United States will not take the position advocated namely our announcement of unwillingness to automatically purchase all the gold presented to us at $35 an ounce. The Russians would help to keep this market for their gold. We thus see the Russians are dedicated to the gold standard as they have been all the way back to the days of the Roman Empire.

EXEC:

If we do negotiate, who exactly will it be with?

ZINN:

We would have to negotiate with two parties. One, and this is ourselves, and the other the Vietnamese. I stress the least important because according to President Johnson it is the most important. But, he's wrong. But is in his testimony on March 11, 1968, talking about what Johnson keeps talking about, "1 have no right to negotiate with the enemy." I don't think he's right. So, I don't think that the enemy is going to be negotiate; we want some little talks; not to talk; no one talks; not to talk. The other one is talking about the neutralization of the Saigon government. So, I don't think that the enemy is going to work on that. But, let's see what we can do.

The word "Vietcong" is a pejorative term; it's a nasty term directed against them by the U.S. and by the Vietnamese Government. We all use it. Viet- cong means Viet-Con, Communist. Of course I say a nasty term; it's true, it indicates the fact that the Vietcong is a large measure of truth, the NLF consists of Communists and other groups but there is no doubt that the Communists are the key element, the dominant element, yet they're not the majority element. For instance, there is a man I spoke to in Vietnaise who worked as a police officer under the Diem regime, who knew the NLF and who knew very much about the situation; he said he estimates that only 20% of the NLF are Communists. In general, most people agree. Only a small percentage of the NLF are Communists.

almost impossible to estimate the timing for this phase; much will depend upon the turn of economic events during the next three to five years as well as the situation of some of our international problems. We expect to get some help from government programs when they are all fully reactivated; right now, as you know, many federal and state assistance programs have been curtailed or stopped entirely. We have hopes, however, that in the near future some of these sources of funds will be open to us.

"Phase three is a projection of our curricular programs into the future. We are making plans for additional courses of study which I have already mentioned. These will include possible additional masters programs, other than the B.S., B.A., and the expectation of a consortium with nearby colleges and universities in offering the B.S.E. degree.

"Now I know what you are thinking. What about our athletic program; it hasn't been mentioned at all. We have every intention of giving Bill Olson and his staff as much support as needed to develop this important part of student life. It won't be neglected, you can be certain. We have some plans for the future of athletics at Babson, and I am sure you will like them.

"Finally, let me quote a couple of paragraphs from the Master Plan, which, to me, sum up all the things we are trying to do to develop the New Babson. Here they are: "It is the consensus of the Long Range Planning Committee that the Mission of Babson should be to educate broadly for life in a complex and rapidly changing society with special emphasis on providing instruction to educate for managerial responsibility in that society. A program of general education should provide the content within which courses in management are offered at the undergraduate level; at the graduate level, instruction should be offered in management with special attention to the management of international activities."

"The above statements, I think, personify the New Babson. When we have reached these goals, every Babson alumnus, the world over, will be proud to say, "I had a part in building the New Babson."

A sizable chunk of money is riding on college students' ability to "deliver the goods." The students are part of Student Marketing Institute, Inc.'s "Major Market Field Force" - a nationwide network of college marketing students who act as a part-time "sales force-interns" for many leading companies. It gives the students a unique opportunity to "earn while they learn." Students are selected, trained and supervised on the job by their Business School Professors.

For the Mallory Battery Program, a total of one hundred students from twelve colleges in eight cities are calling on 10,000 stores. Babson Basketball Team Receives Honors

CHAVALIER & LEONHARDT INC.

The Babson varsity basketball team has just completed its most successful season in over forty years with a 10-6 record. In addition, the Beavers tied for the championship of the Naismith Conference with Bryant College in Providence. The Beavers last winning season was in 1935 when the team finished with an 8-8 record. The Beaver bench faces in Babson basketball fortune can be attributed to two factors: (1) Bill Olson is the coach, and (2) spirited recruiting. Last year Coach Olson, during his first season at Babson, was able to win more games than the three previous years combined. He also recruited three of his first five starters for this year—Wayne Chamberlain, Steve Bernard, and Jody Keeler. He felt that the talent of his new men with those of Captain Kevin Leip and a handful of freshmen is a successful basketball machine.

The big man on the team, Wayne Chamberlain, remained in the top 10 in national statistics for rebounding throughout the season with an average of 13.3 rebounds per game. His new Babson scoring and rebounding records against Eastern Nazarene point in 51 points and 34 rebounds. Working with Wayne in the pivot line is freshman Steve Bernard who averaged 16 points and 10 rebounds per game. The field general and director of the Babson attack was Captain Kevin Leip who averaged 23.5 points per game. The other members of the winning team were Jody Keeler, Dave Marchand, Bob Roth, Steve Schorr, and Alan Jones.

The Beavers' six losses were to Suffolk (86-86), Bryant (97-77), Harrington (98-72), Lowell Tech (76-70), Sacred Heart (96-70), and Bentley (72-59). When Olson's men had a second shot at their opponents, the Beaver soundly trounced them. On the second time around, the Beavers took revenge by defeating Suffolk (86-85), Bryant (83-70), and Harrington (96-68) in that order. The schedule did not permit the Babson five to get another chance at Lowell Tech, Sacred Heart, and Bentley.

At the closing of the current schedule, Kevin Leip and Wayne Chamberlain were honored with all-star nominations in a vote of the six athletic directors representing the entries in the Naismith Conference. Coach Bill Olson was voted Coach of the Year, while Leip was named the league's Most Valuable Player. The Beavers played with only eight men, but determination and good showings held the Babson fortunes. Every Babson can field good teams. Next year Bill Olson has added Colby, Middlebury, and Kings Point (U.S. Merchant Marine Academy) to the schedule. All players are returning, plus some new men Coach Olson hopes to bring to Babson. The team should repeat with another successful basketball season.

CAR CHECK

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin announced that spring motor vehicle and trailer inspections will be held April 1 and continue through May 15.

The law applies to all vehicles registered and operated in Massachusetts AT ANY TIME during the period from April 1 through May 15. Failure to complete the inspection or to permit inspection will leave the authorities no choice but to prosecute owners or personal control of motor vehicles not displaying the white sticker after May 15.

The Registrar also directed attention to the adverse social effects of being involved in the illegal proccurement or use of official inspection stickers. Fraudulent use or possession of illegal affixation to motor vehicles or trailers or any other improper act concern ing inspection stickers will result in the issuance of immediate and automatic action by the Regis-

BABSOn SPRING SPORTS

The spring sports season at Babson College promises this year. The varsity golf team is expecting to repeat or better its li-1-1 record of last year. Coach Jeff Green will soon name the rest of the squad which will be captained by returning letterman Emil Meisberg.

The lacrosse team under Coach Bob Hartwell has its work cut out as the schedule indicates. Coach Hartwell has begun conditioning and training his few veterans under the direction of Captain Charlie Helwig and the many freshmen who played "preteam." The tennis team coached by Fred Tyler will have a better record for the year if some of the many freshmen trying out live up to their secondary school reputations. The team members will be announced soon.

The Babson sailing team is looking forward to a tough spring schedule on the Charles River. In the Finn Class Invitation at Harvard April 14, the Greater Boston Championship April 19, and the NEBA Etchup Champions-ship Eliminations April 21 Babson will compete against such schools as Harvard, Northeastern, Yale, BC, MC, MIT, Boston U, Navy, Commodore Dick Brandt and several experienced opponents, including Skip Zim and Dick Gumpert will be on deck.

Despite the loss of interest, there is a possibility that Babson will not field a track team this year. Anyone interested in participating should notify the coach as soon as possible.

MONEY: THE STORY OF AN ENGINEER

We all know, of course, that in this age of technology every engineering student is receiving fabulous offers of employment, but do we realize just how fabulous these offers are? Do we comprehend just how keenly industry is competing? To illustrate, let me cite the true and typical case of E. Pluribus Vivax, a true and typical senior.

One day last week while strolling across the M.I.T. campus, E. Pluribus was hailed by a portly and prosperous man who sat in a yellow convertible studded with precious gem stones "Hello," said the portly and prosperous man, "I am Pluribus Vivax, president of American Xerographic Data Processing and Birth Control, Incorporated. Are you a senior?"

"Yes, sir," said E. Pluribus.

"Do you like this," said Pluribus, "Porty?"

"Yes, sir," said E. Pluribus.

"It's you," he said, "E. Pluribus." "Thanks, hey," said E. Pluribus.

"Do you like Persenka Super Stainless Steel Blades?"

"Porty?"

"What clean living, clean shaven American does not say!"

"Here is a pack," Porty said. "And a new pack will be delivered to you every twelve minutes as long as you live.

"Thanks, hey," said E. Pluribus.

"Would your wife like a mine coaster?" said Porty. "I feel sure she would," said E. Pluribus, "but I am not married." "Do you want to be?" said Porty."

"What clean living, clean shaven American does not say!"

"E. Pluribus."

"I must forward a tutton on the dashboard of the convertible and the trunk opened up and out came a noble maiden with golden hair, rosy face, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed... "This is Svetlan O'Toy," said E. Pluribus. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said E. Pluribus.

"Thank, hey," said Svetlan.

"Now then," said Porty to E. Pluribus. "Let us get down to business. My company will start at $75,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 36. We will give you an eleven-story house made of laps lumber, each room to be stocked with edible furniture. Your children will receive a college education. For you Porsenka Super Stainless Steel Blades every twenty minutes as long as they shall live. We will also include ten teeth in good repair and also the teeth of your wife and children until the third generation. We will also include a dentist a pipe of Porsenka Super Stainless Steel Blades every twenty minutes as long as he shall live. You will have twenty-five tables of Porsenka Super Stainless Steel Blades..."

"No, now, I want you to think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile here is 56 thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills which places you under no obligation whatsoever.

"Well, it certainly seems like a fair offer," said E. Pluribus. "But there is something you should know. I am not an engineer. In fact I don't go to M.I.T. at all. I just walked over here to admire the trees. I am at Harvard, majoring in Joyce Kumper."

"Oh," said Porty.

"I guess I don't get to keep the money and the convertible and the Personnas and the broad, do I?" said E. Pluribus.

"Of course you do," said Porty. And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

Speaking of wealth, if you want a truly rich, truly luxurious shoe, try Personna Blades, regular or injector, with Harmonic Steel back. There's a champagne shoe on a beer budget!
