SAM CARLING TOUR
by Frederick T. Wright

The Society For Advancement of Management offered a field trip to Carling Brewery in Natchez on Tuesday, April 12. Eight members and three prospective members of the society toured the two-day, two-mill tour two times a day to any interested individuals or organizations.

Carling Brewery is a branch of Canadian Brewery Ltd., the largest brewery in the world. When you visit Carling, you'll find Carling started Carling Brewery in London, Ontario, in the 1880's, and in 1959, it moved to Natchez. Today, Carling has grown from nine plants in the United States and serves fifty-five countries. Carling produces nine types of malt beverage, including Carling Beer, Red Cap, and a Malibu Rum.

Student Travel Service

There is a new business started at Babson this week. The business, to be known as the Babson Travel Representatives, will sell both air and rail service and tour tickets to members of the Babson Community.

A Student Government License was granted to Judson Arnold, a Babson Freshman, to operate the business. The B.T.R. will be sold in the through the Wellsley Travel Service in Wellesley.

Through B.T.R., any student or faculty member may call Mr. Smith at 271-0064 and make a reservation. Mr. Smith will have a complete schedule of domestic and international air carriers. Provision of plane tickets, however, will be for the convenience of the student at the airport, the advantage of the student to arrange pick-up at his home at the airport. In addition, a special package price is available within 48 hours. B.T.R. will be able to handle "round-the-world" tickets as well as all other arrangements at reservations.

You access to the student travel service is possible. You will have the chance to purchase your ticket from B.T.R., for the same price as if you purchase your ticket at the airport. The advantage of this system is that student is at the airport, he can fill up his bag with a long flight before he fills it with anything but a long flight. He can go on, and he won't have to worry about the weather of the flight.

Parents' Weekend Plans

The special "Parents' Weekend" Committee, under the chairmanship of Jim Boutilier, has announced the scheduled program of events for the Second Annual Parents' Weekend. Parents' Weekend is a tradition established last year by the occurrence of a fantastically successful first-time event. The few skeptics who doubted the feasibility of such a venture were ameliorated by the tide of favorable opinion emanating from all sides.

All who attended last year's "Parents' Weekend" (parents - students - faculty - administration) were left with pleasant memories of an event more meaningful than any other in their school experience.

This year's program has been expanded to encompass the entire weekend. Registration will be open to the Student Center Lounge on Saturday morning from 8:00 to 10:15. Guides will be available to assist parents to place their sons in the regularly scheduled classes.

Parents are invited to attend the December program class. The program will be divided at 10:15, and parents and students will proceed to Knight Auditorium to take part in parents' Day. This is the day each year when students are inspired for their scholastic and extra-curricular achievements. Following the program, music will be served in the Dingell Hall, followed by a buffet lunch served in the Dingell Hall. At 5:00 p.m., there is scheduled a brief ceremony to deduce the Student Center. To the event that many parents contributed to the Student Center, it is only fitting that many of us contribute to the Dingell Hall. The program for the evening is a buffet dinner served in the Dingell Hall. For the final event of the weekend, a lecture by Dr. Wallace P. Morris, Jr., Assistant Professor of History, will be held. The lecture will take place at 8:00 p.m. in the Wellsley Junior High Auditorium.

Mayoralty Rules Announced By Blue Key

This year, as in the past, the Babson Chapter of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity will sponsor and supervise the Mayoralty Campaign. There are some explicit ground rules that have been established to help guide the candidates through their campaigns.

There are five campus organizations (B.L.A.M., Newman Club, Alpha Delta Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma Pi) that the three classes who may not combine forces to sponsor a candidate among themselves. But any of these organizations may combine with any official or unofficial recognized campus organization (except any of the classes) long as their combined membership does not exceed a total of 80. Beyond the classes of the students, it is felt that they should be able to sponsor a candidate singly.

The candidate, the campaign manager, and all MALE participants in the contest must be members of the sponsoring organization.

A limit of $500.00 has been set for all expenses incurred by a candidate whether he is sponsored by one or more than one organization. A financial report must be filed with the Mayoralty Committee by 1:00 p.m., May 16, 1966. This report must include an itemized list of all expenditures made during the campaign. The Committee reserves the right to require a neat report for any item that it deems necessary.
FREEDOM OF CHOICE?

When the time rolls around for all Bahoon Men to cast their ballots for the leaders of their Student Government for the 1966-1967 school year, they will be offered no choice whatever for the offices of President and Vice-President. Perhaps the average student is not aware of the important role played by the Student Government, or perhaps he is just not interested. In either case we are extremely fortunate that both 'candidates' are eminently capable, interesting, and energetic men who will provide Student Government with the new blood that will perhaps stimulate the interest and participation of the long passive, lethargic masses of future business dynamos.

The present administration has done a job that is commendable by any standard. The President has brought a stability to the Government that it long needed, and that should have awakened the respect and pride of all the students. Yet only those who have been close to him in these last few semesters have been aware of the tremendous strides he has made. This is partly the fault of the students themselves and partly the fault of the EXECUTIVE. He has been too concerned with getting things done to have time to report to them all of the students. Let us hope that during the next administration this partisanship manifestly supplant by a willingness to be corrected, and that the EXECUTIVE may serve as a direct link between the Government and the people.

Dear Bob,

Since this may be your last issue of EXECUTIVE as Editor-in-Chief, I thought it would be a good idea to print what I have long felt. To begin with, I know that the majority of you have an honor for me to work for. I think that every student at Bahoon would agree that the EXECUTIVE has responsibility and that only a very few students can be called leaders in the sense that the leader of the flock is the one that looks after his sheep. I have taken for many of my classmates and friends of different aptitudes of student workers. All of these I have found very interesting and value them very much. I have turned into a forum for student ideas, a forum for the student to criticize and to express his opinion. From this page of the editorial page was usually the first time that I had a chance to express myself. In our generation, the honest, and frank in my editorial polices, and I believe that the students have appreciated that. Personally, you have provided a means of communication that I hope I shall always be able to live the rest of my days, as the editor of the student's yearbook, as it is called, is a medium for us to exchange ideas and influences. I sincerely hope that we may continue our communication, as long as it is, a way for me to express myself. In any case I deeply thank you for the opportunity of working with you these last three semesters.

Sincerely,

Art Frank

The junior class is on the move. The best beach party the school has ever had was held last week in May 36th. The scene was at the "Philand" by the Cope. The White Horse Beach area has been a haven for students for years and a private beach is ours. Also included among the facilities are a picnic and a place to fish, allowing our friends to enjoy the nature of the environment.

The facilities are open starting at 9 PM for the students and from 5 PM to 9 PM for the junior class. We plan to continue this for the remainder of the year.

President, Junior Class

TO THE EDITORS,

I am writing in support of the actions of the administration taken at Bakoon. It's unfair and unjust — but it's necessary. It was explained to me by our social worker that the situation was desperate. Recently, it was brought to my attention that the Bakoon Club had been assessed a fine for an intentional breach of the contract it had with the administration. I found myself in a difficult position, unable to judge as a whole the righteousness of this action and also to the parents of the students, who may have felt unjustified.

In this mind, I begin my letter with the word "HAWK." Upon returning to the campus last night, I found that a portion of the campus had been destroyed. The effects of the actions of the administration have been felt by the students, their parents, and by the administration itself as it did not make any effort to work together.

I sincerely hope that the administration will do something to rectify the situation and that Bakoon Club will be able to continue its valuable work.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

No doubt your editorial of April 14 was well meant. It was aimed at the "crisis on this campus" which, of course, is one of the biggest problems we have today. It's obvious that the President and his assistants' duties are respect and responsibility, and one of the responsibilities of a newsletter is to make sure that all is well timed.

It would be appropriate to inform the student body that the bill being printed by James Pottier is on the right track. It is only a first step, but it is a first step. The vote on the bill is on the right track.

Investors, look over your shoulders.

By DAVE KRECH

For the past few days, there has been a bite back-rolling in the averages. At around 948 the DJI seems to be sizing the market up. The public may have been taking this a bit lightly. Since both stock exchanges (NYSE & ASE) have now restricted investor credit rather sharply (from $1.15 to 90 C) traders are now locking up in credit accounts, speculation might stagnate for awhile. What the restrictions have done in effect is to attempt to curb the buying of credit by many people who wish to profit on short-term price movements. At the same time the need to route credit and trading purchases made for quick sale later. Also rumored on the Street is that the Federal Reserve will probably make a large cut in the discount rate. Actually the probability of this in the next two months seems slight. So the credit circle begins to tighten.

However, the high flyers are still attracting attention. There is still large volume trading in many of the airline, electronic, and some copper stocks. A definite air of indecision does exist among many, but potential buyers are looking for many services for Government Savings Bonds. These are at historical all time lows for prices with a lot of buying.

March was a good car selling month so the Big Three are happy about profits, but are not so happy about their own production. If legislation comes out of these hearings or if the current bill, if passed, in its present form, many items such as body structure, brakes, tires, etc. may be changed. This will mean increased costs and stiffer competition. I think it is safe to say that we can expect to come around Detroit's five glorious years in a few months. This will take a lot of work in the auto industry. The Ford, GM, and Chrysler will not be sitting idly by. Personally, I hope the auto industry doesn't have a make-over like Ford of old, the weakest link in the chain. AMF has already got a jump on this with some companies as AMC and the late car-maker Studebaker which have been bought by Renault. I feel beleaguered, like disco brakes and dual braking systems. It is the small company which keep the large ones from getting too out of line. They still make the car industry just what might just start a real drop.

There has been a lot of bloom of American Chief with the job of the American Chief. It is the same thing - good appreciation potential and above average yields. Maybe somebody's been working on Wall Street, but the rest of the rest of the world wants to unload a pretty big block and is trying to create a market. Who knows? Oil & Gas is a good long shot for a diversified oil.

Who are the Remains? Many of us here at Babson know them better by their first names. It seems like the only short time ago they were here at 1717 for one night advertising for that Fred Beers dance last year that they played for. They were only a few weeks old then. A lot has happened to them since then.

The contracts have been signed and returned, now it can be announced. The REMAINS are coming back to BABSON. They will appear at the Spring Weekend Majorities Dance May 14 at the Sherry Billingsmore Hotel. Get ready Babson.

The Remains, now considered to be one of the hottest new national attractions in the country today, are no hit centers to the Babson Campus. Many of us remember them at the Fredman Dance last year. Others will recall their playing at the Yale Bowl, at Alumni Weekend last year. It was only a year ago that nearly Babson men would go in every Wednesday eve to the Hippodrome Club to see them perform. But then, all of a sudden, after their last record came out they became stars.

By the time school finished last year, their first album, "Why Do I Cry", had hit the charts. Last summer the Remains went on tour across the country and by the time school started this fall our old friends, the Remains, were on their way to stardom.

This fall they took a leave of absence from Boston University to pursue their musical careers. They toured the South playing stage concerts and area shows. During the Christmas season they appeared at the famed "Town Hall Club" in New York. And just last month, January 24, all of a sudden it happened, the Ed Sullivan Show.

Their appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show brought them national acclaim. They wanted to release another record immediately, and a host of engagements and offers came to them because of the show. Since that appearance they have performed across the country as national stars. Their recent appearance on "Hullabaloo" brought still further fame to their name.

The Remains' current LP, "Diddy Wah Diddy" has just hit the Billboard charts and shows all signs of going to the top. Senator Manley, in the Senate, has an issue coming out with an entire spread on Ed Sullivan's show and they're scheduled for a "Tonight" appearance and a return to "Town Hall Club".

Yes, the Remains have come a long way since the days of their first appearance at Babson a year ago. Then did you have time to get them at this time and all of Babson eagerly awaits the May 6 (Remains Home) to our campus. Watch out Babson. Their next engagement is unplanned.--------

BARRY Trafman, lead guitar and vocalist has been making music since he was eight. Now at 20, he has been at the helm of one band or another for eight years. Born in Illinois, he has lived in Hollywood, and Westport, Connecticut. He has walked over a good part of Europe and the British Isles. Overseas, he managed to live by playing in cafes and pubs, and with a bit of street singing. He does Socrates, Jazz, Barris, Monotones, Jonascou, the Rolling Stones, and the Kinks.

BRIGGS, or William Briggs III to be proper was born in Battle Creek, Michigan but moved to Westport, Connecticut when he was six. He began electric piano, electric organ, and harmonica with the Remains. In between writing many of the group's songs, Briggs tinkers with cars, washes his hair, and dreams about the motorcycle he intends to have someday.

VERN Miller is from New Jersey. He is the group's most serious student of Music. He began on the trumpet when he was four. Now he plays Tuba, Guitar, Trumpet, French Horn, and Acoustic Bass, and with the Remains, Electric Bass. Outside of his musical pursuits which include song writing, he tinkers in sports cars. On stage, his rapid fire exchanges with Barry are a major part of the Remains' visual and sonic excitement.

CHIP, nee Rudolph A. Damesale II, is the only one of the Remains who was not an unperceived musician prior to the group's formation. A native of Connecticut, Chip led the Choral Club at Canterbury Preparatory School where he went before coming to Babson. His entire learning of the drums has been on his own, never having had a lesson, or even playing for any but his closest friends before joining the Remains. His passion--Pool, Cars, Monotones.

The recent re-opening of the famed Onondaga's Night Club in New York City starred the Remains Band from Boston. Opening night's show saw many of the nation's leading figures dancing and mingling within the overflowing crowds. The publishers of the nation's leading magazines and trade journals, reporters, agents, producers and celebrities all were on hand to witness the excitement caused by the Remains.

O Sound's night club has just opened its new policy of live disco dancing. It chose the Remains to inaugurate the new policy because of the excitement associated with this attraction. Each night during the Remains appearance crowds waited in line to take part in the excitement. So successful was the engagement that O'SOUND has asked the Remains to do a return engagement. The band, however, is not booked until it will be mid-June before they will be able to return.
AROUND AND ABOUT

Question: Do you think that Boston offers an adequate nightlife for college students?

By Pope Hoffman,

Elen Leopold, Senior, Radcliffe College: I think that the problem is that there are many too many things offered at night. In Boston and Cambridge, Harvard and MIT film groups each show student and commercial films two nights a week. Undergraduate literary and political organizations offer lectures weekly by speakers ranging from Herbert Aptheker to Tom Wolfe. There are concerts all the time. And the Hays-B Hochberg, open all right, guarantees that there will always be some place to sit and talk. The result is that one education comes mainly from outside the classroom. You get a lot of education just walking through Harvard Square at night—always swimming with rats and dirty hippies.

Nancy Wiznecky, Freshman, Wellesley College: I think that Boston offers two adequate nightlife, but I think the problem comes in finding it and getting to it. Too many people find themselves going to parties every weekend with the same group of people which can become confusing. I think students must make an effort to seek the unusual and I do think it exists.

Epicurean’s Dine

High On The Hog

By DAVID A. KRECH

The Epicurean Society had the double pleasure of dining at the exclusive Top of The Hub, Presidental Tower. When we sat high on the hog we’re speaking literally — the restaurant is the highest in Boston (52 stories) and the swill, or food, is fit for pigs. The restaurant is just inside with imperatives. It is the furthest up, the most expensive, the longest waiting list, poorest service, poorest food and one of the finest views of Boston (we’re told). Our seats were supposed to be by the window, but instead we had an eye catching view of the kitchen wall. The chicken with flaming apricot sauce would have been fine had...

Andy Barley, Junior, Babson: Yes — besides New York City, Boston offers one of the best cultural programs in the nation. There is something for everyone — plays, movies, lectures, parties and Boston’s coffee-house entertainment has New York City beat by a long shot. As to the question of the drinking age, where there’s a will, there’s a way!

Bill Eber, Freshman, Babson: Yes, I feel Boston does offer an adequate nightlife — but that’s as far as it goes for people under 21. Coming from New York, one finds it hard to accept the fact that he can’t drink here legally. For people under 21, I think Boston, as a city for fun and enjoyment, leaves something to be desired.

Rexey Wright, Sophomore, Radcliffe College: Yes, if students want or need to look for nightlife in Boston, there is plenty to be found. But I also think that the unusual can be found outside of Boston on the campus itself. It isn’t usually necessary to look too far for it.

Elden's Children

"Knock-em, sock-em, beat-the-clock, Pack 'O Polo band" is what the Record American calls Elden's Children, a combo in which the first part of the name appears under a large half page picture of the group that was in the newspaper last week.

The musical director is Edward A. Martin, a "Knock-em, sock-em, beat-the-clock," who has that really all his band can do on their own. Their recent engagement at the Newport Jazz Festival saw this four-square recently played to packed houses. Standing stage several times in a row, the group, when they were there, was a crowd five deep surrounding the bandstand just watching, listening to what they were doing. With this much excitement, who can imagine what would happen if a management agreement was so impressively that been made with one. Such an agreement has been on a permanent basis starting this Tuesday, June 5th.

Upon first seeing this group one thing that immediately struck people is that something is going to lead them to the top. Maybe that something is the hand talented drummer, Jim Zinnman, While being a great musician, Jim is a talentated stage performer as well, that really lit up to watch and listen. It takes more than just talent to make it to the top these days, it takes all the band's efforts to make a hit. That is what Jim Zinnman truly is.

Billy Glaser, singer, harmonium, does something that is really ingenious. He does it so cheaply as possible to college people. He writes and sings for physics teacher at westmont, he had the idea. It could be really well done, but Billy must make it. He is truly great, Billy's features are the best of all the bad men of the felling. The ending of the song goes, "How can we ever forget this momentous reaction to this man's performance"

Some groups, like the Beatles, Rolling Stones, or Beach Boys, seem to have everything going for them. Elden's Children are in the same boat. They are the kind of people who goes up in the air and all the time. The group is: Jeffrey J. Albright, John A. Harbaugh, Edward A. Martin, and Peter Bennett High School. In the meantime, he believes in the idea of when they could get an offer for the Army for the better, the better. But he never knew before, they never did it before. They always seemed to know where the best in the country was, but they never did it for the Army.

What was so special about this Army? Rear Admiral, Harold W. Lee, has been appointed as the end of a long list of military officials that have been appointed to teach and as the engines had never been tested and they would be in perfect condition. The only drawback was somebody would have to put them in the plane. Plans were in the drawing for the exact same on the test site. The men were the U.S. Army Air Force, the missing man. The last thing was for us to have an "odd man out." This was to be an "odd man out," which means that we would have to show the Army before the group could try to work through the Army Specials Dept.
MUSIC SCENE

By LARRY FEDMAN

The old Boston favorites, The Remains, have been placed in the spotlight. In conjunction with their new hit record, Do Wah Diddy, The Remains had a very successful appearance on the Batman television show. The band should take them far from Boston in the next few months.

Some surprises aren't really surprises; last week the Beatles' "Rubber Soul" album was the eleventh best seller of the year at the general store. That's quite an accomplishment for an album that has been a best seller for five months. The Beatles' summer tour is the most popular tour in the country's history. New York's Shea Stadium promoters will offer a guarantee of $125,000 against 86% of the gate. With tickets for the Olympic Games sold out, and the Beatles scheduled only 12 concerts for their entire tour, one can justifiably say that a Beatles concert is a good possibility.

Eden's Children will be appearing at the Rathskeller May 3 and 10. The group, with Jim Sherman on the drums, received a warm welcome for their last show. They will be in the Hampton Beach area this weekend. Don't be surprised if they spend the summer as regularly as some Cape Cod night spot.

The Orphans were swaying at the Staller Hilton last weekend for a National Sorority Convention. An all-college mixer at Stonehill College on April 29th will be held at the Playland--Whitehouse Beach on April 31st. The group is now at the Rathskeller for the first of a series of appearances for spring dances and sorority functions. Ed Sparks has signed them to play for the all-day beach party dance and has invited them for Spring Weekend at the end of the year.

In a democracy, we are told, people have the freedom to express their views. Since there have been countless calls for one of the best-organizedło the most attended of the events has been the "Let's Rock," the almost lack of all musical pride in letting a group of studio musicians play in their behalf is surpassed only by their lack of imagination. Perhaps the reason why the Technically they are not "together" or full. In other words, there is a lack of musical experimentation and often their performances are often more like playing a set list of songs.

In his article, "Why We Need Music," writer Edward Kleng has pointed out the need for better musicianship and a more active audience. He believes that "the untrained listener is the first to fall to the overly-conventional and the one who is most likely to be destroyed by the lack of new ideas."

LACROSSE

The newly formed LACROSSE Club of Babson has just successfully completed its third week of practice. According to Mr. Lea, the team has progressed at a fast rate and is looking up quite nicely. The attendance at the past practices has been excellent, and the members have shown a definite will and desire to play the game. Bill Steed and Tom Morin are elected co-captains for the club for the coming season.

We decided to interview Mr. Steed and get his candid view of the team's performance. Bill told us that he had played lacsrosse for several years while attending The Aces School in Winnsboro, Conn., and that there were a number of other men on the team with previous experience. We then asked Bill if he would explain the lacsrosse the team suffered in its first encounter with the改动，it reads:

LACROSSE

The 1960 schedule of the Aces shows more batting punch than any other team in recent years. The Aces have played well against the Boston College, Harvard and Yale teams, and have scored runs in both their games with the Harvard teams and against the Boston College team. The Aces are off to a good start in their season opener against the Boston College team, and are looking forward to a successful season.
