Burgess to Speak at Founders Day

As has long been a yearly tradition here at Babson, Founders' Day ceremonies shall be held Wednesday, October 27th at 10:00 a.m., in Knight Auditorium. All of the student body is probably aware of the fact that Babson Institute was founded by Mr. Roger Ward Babson and his late wife in 1929. We acquired our present campus in 1929, and in that same year were incorporated as a non-profit educational institution.

October 22-23 are the dates set for Babson alumni to celebrate their annual Homecoming. Included in a packed Saturday schedule are three workshop-discussions. These discussions will feature alumni who have become top men in their fields. The discussions will be led by faculty members and will deal with such subjects as Investments, Marketing, and Business control and Computers.

The discussion on investments will be led by Dr. William F. Payne, Dean of the Graduate School. As his guest speaker Mr. Payne will have Robert M. Roberts, a graduate of the class of 1959. Mr. Roberts is employed in the Investment Department of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company of Boston.

In the marketing field Professor Bert Canfield will be the discussion leader. He will be assisted by guest speaker Charles J. McCarthy, Mr. McCarthy graduated from Babson Institute in 1964 and is now employed as an Executive Vice President of Leasell Corporation.

Professor Earl K. Brown will be the discussion leader in the field of Business Control and Computers. Mr. Robert L. Jones of the class of '65 will assist Mr. Brown, Mr. Jones is employed by the Price Instrument Division of Sperry Rand Corporation.

Besides the various workshop activities are a schedule full of student-branch Alumni Association cornerstone luncheon in the Trim Dining Hall and a banquet in the evening. The banquet will have a gala party at the pool at 5:30 p.m. All members of the faculty of 1964 and 1965 Masters Open Golf Tournament will be shown in the projection room in the basement of the library.

That night at the Sidney Hill Country Club will be the Beaver Ball. On Friday night there will be student dance at "The Meadows" in Framingham.

MR. R. RANDOLPH BURGESS

Babson Institute is one of the few schools out of the several thousand who celebrate Founders' Day with the Founder still living. As the upperclassmen know last year's Founders' Day was highlighted by the attendance of Mr. Babson, who, at that time, gave an inspiring speech on the growth and development of students. He used a stalk of corn to illustrate the points he wished to bring out. We all hope Mr. Babson can find it possible to again honor us with his presence at this year's Founders' Day.

The school is awarding an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree this year to Mr. W. Randolph Burgess. Mr. Burgess has long been known for his contributions to the American financial scene and his efforts in seeking world peace and harmony.

Mr. Burgess was born on May 7, 1886, at Newport, Rhode Island. He holds diplomas from Brown University, Columbia, and Columbia in addition to honorary degrees. His first wife, Mary Ayres, died in 1966. He is now married to Helen Hamilton Woods, and is the father of two children.

Mr. Burgess is our former United States Ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and is a former under-secretary of the United States Treasury. Among some of his many business and community activities may be included the following: Vice-president of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, 1926-38; Chairman of the Executive Committee, National City Bank of New York, 1946-52; Chairman of the Board, City Bank Farmers Trust Company; Director of Discount Corporation; International Banking Corporation; and, National City Safe Deposit Company. Mr. Burgess is a director of the Atlantic City Council and is a former chairman of the Atlantic Treaty Association, 1961.

Mr. Burgess is the author of two books, "Trends of School Costs" and "The Reserve Banks and the Money Market." He resides in Beverly Hills, Maryland.

Mr. Thomas Smith will be in charge of the faculty procession. This will be the only time this year for those students who are not graduating in June to see the faculty and administration in full academic regalia.

Those students who have 93.0 Wednesday classes will be either pleased or saddened to note that some are cancelled for the 27th. All in all, it is sure to be a great day for the ceremonies, but past experience has shown that those who do not have a most interesting and informative day.

Dear Editor:

One of the growing diseases which menace our youth today is the "Super-Freedom" complex. This insidious disease strikes the ignorant and the underinformed and infects them with the cancerous fouling of "free" speech and "free" action. The victim assumes the role of an alleged thinker or freedom fighter. They follow "Rorschachian" or what everyone else does, and they do not listen to any of the older people. They dream of liberty and their vocabulary consists of two words, low which means bad, and press which means good. The public longs for the days when they could trust the newspaper as the friend of the people, but today they believe that they have the answer to what's wrong with our society and that the answer is to be found in the older people, and when we should do as they do.

Their manner is that of the new social order, one that is degenerating about any form of authority. The writer is offering that these diseases and others he has suffered from writing orange is the bar for our society. However, the writer believes that he may discover the real path to the future and offer some valid suggestions. He's it all low the annoying ideas that are sometimes made the meeting.

THREE SPANISH ARTISTS

Baboon has about 40 foreign students, and out of this number I would estimate that about half of the foreign students are of South American origin. Last year, the number of South Americans, last year expanded to over 200. It was more or less hostile to the art world because it was associated with the art world in the United States today. Good news today, you can now see some Spanish art in town. At the Dail and Richards Gallery, 140 Newbury Street, Boston, there is an exhibition and sale of oils and watercolors. The shows run through October 25. The artists are looking for some new and less expensive art. Let’s give it a try and let me know how the Spanish art is doing.

Bruce Conner is still around. At present Bruce Conner has a show running at the Rose Art Museum at Brandeis University in Waltham. The show runs through October 24. I received a notice a few days ago that Bruce Conner will have another show at the Galerie St. Etienne in Paris. The show opens on October 25 to November 10. It must have something going on when I want to see the show at Brandeis, it seems.

Another show worth seeing is the "White on White" show at Brandeis. There is a show running now at the New Art Museum, 140 Newbury Street, Boston. This show runs through October 24. White on White

Seventeen of the original (white) works of art from Europe, South America, and the United States will be shown at the Deodera Art Museum in Lincoln, Massachusetts. This is the opening show for the "White on White" exhibition to be presented by the Deodera Art Museum in Lincoln, Massachusetts. The show runs through October 10. This is one of the few art museums in New York that has a special section devoted to white art. The show runs through October 10. PHOENICIAN BALL

Alpha Kappa Psi’s Phoenician Ball will be a night to remember. The Phoenician Ball is held at the Hotel Intercontinental, 190 Commonwealth Avenue in Boston. The ballroom will be decorated in shades of red and gold, and the evening will feature a dance performance by the Boston Ballet. The theme for the evening is "The Persians," without a doubt the most popular Phoenician dance of all time. The evening will also feature a special appearance by the Boston Ballet’s first principle dancer, Maria Tallchief. She will perform a solo ballet to music from "The Persians." The show runs through October 24. I received a notice a few days ago that Bruce Conner will have another show at the Galerie St. Etienne in Paris. The show opens on October 25 to November 10. Not one, not two, but three groups were on hand to provide musical entertainment for everyone’s enjoyment. The groups included, national recording fave, "The Persians," under the vocal leadership of the unforgettable soprano, Carla Reine, and the "Phoenician" group, under the direction of Arthur Schwartz. TRADING POST

Why You Should Join S. A. M.

Last Thursday, 27 men showed up for the open meeting. Fifty people had applied in November. We feel that this is one of the most propitious moves that they could make at the beginning of their business career.

In a day when such things as "come on high," "come on down," and not just a college degree, the average college student must pick his extracurricular activities with great care. Each organization offers to members its own individual advantages and responsibilities that go along with membership. Some require a great deal of work on the part of the members others exist solely for the entertainment of the members. And in these two extremes, there are a variety of members and different roles.

Did they pick S.A.M.? First of all, responsibility for the continuance of the society is not delegated to any one member; an effective committee structure management member is a group with a common goal—to continue the society. In this system, "no man is a moun- tain," and will not be required to carry the responsibility alone.

One of the important functions of the Society is to provide a social outlet for its members. Becomes the activities of the organization require a close-knit body, such as the "come on high," there is an opportunity for members to work together towards goals in a less formal setting. The S.A.M. team is a formal group of people who are working together towards goals in a less formal setting.

In preparing food for business, no student can afford to miss making business contacts. At S.A.M., there is an opportunity for members to work together towards goals in a less formal setting. The S.A.M. team is a formal group of people who are working together towards goals in a less formal setting.

In making your decision you are not alone. If you want to be a part of a group that will be involved in the world of business, you should join S.A.M. If you want to be a part of a group that will be involved in the world of business, you should join S.A.M. INVESTORS' VIEWPOINT

BY DAVE KRECH

Question -- How can I find an accurate stock price? Are there a few books and still be relatively safe?

The answer is yes. You can look up and collect prices from your favorite financial accounting. The investor that is looking for good value, better than others, and still be relatively safe, should try collecting stocks from a low-cost and high-quality source.

To collect stock prices, you can look in financial newspapers, monthly financial journals, or you can subscribe to a service that provides stock quotes.

For example, you can subscribe to a service that provides stock quotes, such as Morningstar, Value Line, or Morningstar Direct. These services provide detailed information about stock prices, dividends, earnings, and other financial metrics.

In addition, you can use online resources such as Yahoo Finance, Google Finance, or Bloomberg. These websites provide real-time stock quotes, charts, and other financial information.

The key is to use a reputable source that provides accurate and timely information. By doing so, you can make informed investment decisions and protect your financial well-being.
Further Adventures of Bobby Beaver

By DAVE LEIFER

Heartsick and lonely, Bobby Beaver entered his second hectic week at Babson Institute. He noticed home cooking by his Mom and Dad did not mean that all of his home town sweetness -- Laura Lockjaw. He walked into his room, cursed Richie Goldham, Rippedo's best man on his wedding night, wrote Laura a letter.

The hogwash went as follows...

Oh Laura, honey bunch, sugar plum. I love you. I know your sweet talk and your proverbs and your picture and hit the rack. My roommates aren't too understanding, my teachers hate me because I don't try so hard. I'm up and westenda are spent staying at walls, I miss your smiling face and warm tender body. See ya soon.

Low Bobby

As Bobby finished the banana split, his best buddy, Luke Jive, walked in the room. In less than five minutes, the two pairs, incomestable lads were out-decking -- At MARY'S Coffee fast post home for fine liquor. They ran for a Providence upper-classman, Lance Van Cool. Linus proceeded to expose on which course were guns and which prof you had to bust hump for. White wine, passionates written and intoned pages seemed to be the transact- ing theme. Bobby Beaver was in the grove now. He was becoming a man among men, a leader among leaders, a player of the western world.

Connoisseurs of fine foods, in their many travels over the world, never fail to mention the trumbun, when it comes to discussing dining pleasures. So when the erlang gun sounded 5:30 Bobby prepared for the dining hall. Standing on the endless ramp for four hours proved to be trivial for the licentious treats that awaited him. Instead calories, so-called beef piled on high, higher than the sky... was before (

...saggy chocolate pudding, truly a creation to behold. Amen! No wonder Charlie's Bookstore keeps running out of Cloresses and vittles of Venice! A lone line stood at the innumerable line 5:30. Bobby Beaver — his friend — was given an order to his room, he wrote a thesis on the "VAL OF OTHER'S SEX".

"Here is the KNOTTED BOTTLE IN COLLEGE SOCIETY," O Lord save us from poisonous philosophy.

Speaking of poison, two dimwits who had been with a vengeful passion were Harry Highschool and Peter Prep. Harry spoke fervently about "Their Scent", a new crossword line that went in the same state for amateur and barrel on half-witted Joe College who attempted to start a philatelic club. The, on the other hand, relished telling how his 1963 Colorado had a field of uel injected Sting-Rays at the animal pageant on Fire Island. Harry and Peter also gave a dissertation on spouting at Babson, yet when the weekend was over, they were the first to pack their suitcases and head for home.

That evening, at approximately 8:00, Bobby was spying all about "arguments of the beard" when all of a sudden a yelling call was heard. "Hoor, Hoor! Crock- A-BEEKIE. Baring cream fight time brought to you by Burma Shave. A secund time in the old dormitory.

Well, Bobby, Beaver fans, the ensuing cream fight takes place next week in the same place (I hope). Also there will be a liquid date to the Flushingcian Hall, another letter to Laura Lockjaw, and an intensive struggle for survival with roommates, Hobie Gripe.

NEW PROGRAMMING ON WRWB

This year, as in the past, WRWB carries live broadcasts six nights a week -- Sunday through Friday -- from 6:00 to midnight. On Saturday because student demand does not call for live programming, FM music is programmed at 900 KC all day long. Every night WRWB signs on at 8:00 with its traditional theme song, whose title still remains a mystery. Then from 6:00 to 9:00 the top hits of the week are played live from our studios. At 7:00, on the dot, WRWB carries the world's biggest. CD-60 which is followed by financial, local and campus news, hosted by the Trim Dining Hall and campus announcements. In this way WRWB helps to keep the Babson students abreast of the goings-on of the community.

The station has adopted a policy of broadcasting full, classical, and show music from 7:00 to 9:00 each night. Of the six programs in this time slot five of them are new this year. Two of the new additions, NEW FOLKICLE and FOLKTIME promise to bring you the best of Joan Baez, Peter, Paul, and Mary, and Pete Seeger. Every night at 9:00 is a fifteen minute special program is broadcast. These features include: ADLER

Mr. John Stamm

Mr. John Stamm is a Lecturer in Labor Relations at Babson College. He is also Assistant Dean of Students at Babson. He has a master's degree in Management Engineering from Harvard University. He is married to a Russian. His interests are ornithology, butterfly collecting, and bird habitats.

Mr. Stamm's interview with The Babson Executive was held on October 19, 1965, in his office in the Junior Classroom.

Dr. Alexander Interviewed

The Executive staff plans to interview all the departments here at Babson, Dr. Alexander of the economic department was the first to be interviewed.

"What fields are now open for economic majors other than those from Babson?"

"They are in teaching and government. There is a great deal of detailed job information available in those areas, I would be most happy to talk with any student about this subject," Doctor Alexander also stated that, "The number of students who want to teach does exist for those men who hold P.D.

"What courses are most essential to economics majors?"

"Aside from those covering the various subjects, basic courses in each major field offered by the school should be taken, Those courses most helpful in business administration are management, economics, and finance."

"What do you do with the average student who is not as high on the income ladder as other college students?"

"We do not have a background and breadth of comprehension which allows one to better understand the student's life problem. We do not know the total economic situation. We need to know how Babson and what role they can play in getting that total economic situation."
AROUND AND ABOUT

QUESTIONS: Do you believe that President Johnson's recent operation will hinder his chances for re-election in 1968?

Jeff Dogert, Junior, Babson Institute: No because I don't think any operation such as this will cause any difference in his actual well-being. He seemed to come through the operation all right and should be in as good health for the elections in 1968.

Murray Wachsmann, Freshman, Babson Institute: No, because in the history of the U.S., I believe that the American public has always supported their presidents. The future will show if this operation will have any affect on him at all.

Kathi Conners, Senior, Lasell Jr. College: No, because I think that if in the final analysis, the American public decides to cast their vote for Johnson in the coming election, then he will have the strength to carry on.

Percy Morgan, Senior, Dade Manor Fr. College: No. I don't think the American public will support him in the coming election.

Ford Motor Company is:

A key dimension of any job is the responsibility involved. Graduates who join Ford Motor Company find the opportunity to accept responsibility early in their careers. The earlier the better. However, we know the transition from the academic world to the business world requires training. Scholastic achievements must be complemented by a solid understanding of the practical, day-to-day aspects of the business. That is the most direct route to accomplishment.

Stephen Jager, of the Ford Division's Milwaukee District Sales Office, is a good example of how it works. His first assignment, in January, 1968, was in the Administrative Department where he had the opportunity to become familiar with procedures and communications between dealerships and the District Office. In four months he moved ahead to the Sales Planning and Analysis Department as an analyst. He studied dealership in terms of sales history, market penetration and potential, and model mix. This information was then incorporated into master plans for the District. In March, 1964, he was promoted to Zone Manager—working directly with 19 dealers as a consultant on all phases of their complex operations. This involves such areas as sales, finance, advertising, customer relations and business management. Responsible job? You bet it is — especially for a man 25 years old. Over one million dollars in retail sales, annually, are involved in just one dealership Steve contacts.

As a growth company in a growth industry, Ford Motor Company offers an exceptionally wide spectrum of job opportunities. The chances are good that openings exist in your field of interest. See our representative when he visits your campus. We are looking for men who want responsibility and will be ready for it when it comes.

Bob Ammon, Junior, Babson Institute: No, because before his election in '64 he had already suffered a heart attack which was arresting in a subtle way by the Republicans in the campaign. This didn't seem to affect his election and I don't see why it should in 1968.

One more observation and then I'll be quiet.

Have you ever noticed that one lone caretaker sits out on that huge lawn with nothing but a tilted winnie, imposition. He seems to wonder the grass looks unmowed. He can only get it it about every two weeks. Am I too far off base to suggest the school bag, borrow or buy — either new or used — some equipment to match the job of attending the grounds? The time saved might give the caretaker time to trim the hedges and otherwise accomplish some things that certainly need attention.

The swimming Team has had a poor season in the men's 200-yard breaststroke, the team showed tremendous victory, however, by six points out of ten won, all in every event. Lack of depth was our main worry. We had eight swimmers, with eight swimmers returning, there are many positions left open in every event. The B club campus has much to offer in the way of facilities for sports. The Milieu Swimming Pool is the best swimming pool in the Area. Citzens National Committee for Higher Education

A plan designed to ease the financial burden on many college students and to create new sources for the establishment of new scholarship opportunities has been created.

The concept of granting tax credits to individuals who have educational expenses in some manner or another, has been widely regarded as more than a decade, but has never been implemented.

Now there are signs that a tuition tax credit measure may pass in the new Congress. The measure is described by some as the "Young Republican Federation and the United States Congress."

Education, too, are demonstration strong backing for the measure. Interim results of a poll being conducted by the Citizens National Committee for Higher Education (CNHE) of South Bend, Ind., showed 85% of college presidents and 77% of college professors said that they would support the measure.

The bill was reintroduced in the present Congress during recent weeks added support for tax credit legislation has been given by the University of Illinois and the University of Illinois at Chicago. The bill would benefit those private colleges that have the highest percentage of students from lower income families.

The educational organizations, including the American Association of Colleges of the United States and the American Association for Educational Freedom.

The tuition tax credit concept seems to be the only policy on the budget over the mounting costs of tuition that has an immediate and publicly supported colleges and universities. One measure that has been pointed at is the idea that colleges should be granted a tax credit to offset the cost of education to the student and his family.

Tuition tax credit was conceived as a policy of paying for college educations and to reduce the threat of students dropping out of college. If a student's tuition is $600 a year, a $600 tax credit would be granted. This would mean that $600 would be deducted from the student's income tax.

Advocates of the plan emphasize that education would be more meaningful to the student and that more students would graduate. Some of the viewers to watch are the teams of Harpajon and Goff, and the teams of Streets and Geisinger.

By Frank B. Miller, Jr.

The Charles Playhouse officially opened its sixth season last week with the world premiere of "The P Цена and a Half," written by Alfred de Marzio. The leading role was Terry Redd, who played the part of a young male college student.

The Charles Playhouse officially opened its sixth season last week with the world premiere of "The P Цена and a Half," written by Alfred de Marzio. The leading role was Terry Redd, who played the part of a young male college student.

Tuition tax credit would be a major step in reducing the cost of education to the student and his family. If a student's tuition is $600 a year, a $600 tax credit would be granted. This would mean that $600 would be deducted from the student's income tax.

Advocates of the plan emphasize that education would be more meaningful to the student and that more students would graduate. Some of the viewers to watch are the teams of Harpajon and Goff, and the teams of Streets and Geisinger.
