Student Government approves 75-76 budget

by BOB BLOCK

Treasurer Henry Dowd submitted this year’s budget to the Student Government at Tuesday night’s meeting. The proposed allocation of funds to the Babson Organizations is as follows:

Student Government $5800.00
Social Committee $12,852.50
Babson Forum $4,954.30
Black Society $1,336.00
Theatre Guild $1,519.50
Varsity B Club $810.00
Hillel $527.00
B. C. F. $910.00
Cardinal Key $466.00
Transcendental Meditation $400.00
Commuter Association $4600.00
B.S.O. $320.00
S. & M. $250.00
Film Society $232.00
Married Students $140.00
Blue Key $30.00
Total $24,969.50

The budget was unanimously acccepted by the 29 representatives present.

President Ralph J. Sarafian II spoke to the assembly prior to the meeting. He gave a presentation of the Five Year Master Plan. A question and answer period followed. Some of the topics discussed were the Sports Complex, 16 Babson Park Avenue, and future construction on campus.

Howard Simpson, Student Government President, announced that “Hub Bus,” a book of savings coupons for movies, restaurants, clothing, hotels, museums, and others, will be on sale October 23 in Time Dining Hall during lunch, and at the Informal Lounge throughout the day. The cost of one book will be $6.00.

Simpson also announced that an undergraduate and a graduate student will be appointed to poll Babson students on what they believe is the best use of the $10,000 received from the bookstore.

Babson Forum to present extraordinary guest speaker

by CHUCK OLIVIERI

Miss Christine Jorgensen, the world’s most well-known transsexual, will speak at Knight Auditorium Monday, October 20, at 8 P.M. Her appearance at Babson College is being sponsored by the Babson Forum.

According to Rich Resnick, the Forum’s president, Jorgensen’s topic will be “Her story, including gender identity problems and people’s reactions.”

Twenty years ago, at the age of twenty-four, Christine Jorgensen was surgically transformed from a shy, effeminate young man” into a woman, as stated in an American Program Bureau (APB) release.

“For Christine, the transformation signaled the end of a tortured search for sexual identity. For the press and public, however, she became a media star through the mixture of controversy and interest,” said the APB.

“Editor and Publisher” credited Jorgensen with receiving more newspaper space than any other individual in the history of journalism.

On this subject, Jorgensen has replied, “It seems to me now a shocking commentary on the press of our time that I pushed the hydrogen bomb into Eniwetok right off the front pages. A tragic war was still raging in Korea, George VI died, and Britain had a new queen. Jonas Salk was working on a vaccine for infantile paralysis...”

“At one time or another I was called a male homosexual, a female homosexual, a transvestite, and a transsexual,” said Jorgensen. “I wasn’t a true male masquerading as a female, a woman since birth who had devised a sensational method of altering her sex...”

Jorgensen went on to say, “I was a man who found himself by searching for the meaning of sex...”

Jorgensen’s lecture will highlight the First Annual Babson Forum, an event that started with two members of the American Program Bureau.

Free Press reports varied survey response

by JIM TABBEN

The $10,000 book store profit, allocated to the Book of Trustee to be used for a campus improvement project, was the subject of a Babson Free Press survey, during the past week.

Members of the faculty, student body, and administration, were questioned at random to obtain some indication of the Babson community feeling the funds should be spent.

Drew Menass, a sociology transfer student believes the money should be used to upgrade the baseball facilities.

“At my old school, we had an indoor athletic facility with a baseball diamond,” he said. “But here, the outdoor facility is in pretty bad shape.”

Kathy Seifer, a senior, thinks the money should be spent on a sauna room adjacent to the gymnasium.

Sophomore Leslie Hyatt preferred that the money should be used to purchase new books for the library.

“Quite often, it is impossible to find something you need. The library just doesn’t have all the materials,” she said.

Senior Florence McGuire wants the money given back to the students.

“The money should either be given to the students in the form of a refund, or else it should be given to various organizations on campus,” she said.

Lili Osta wants baseball uniforms to be purchased for the basketball team. “That way, we won’t have to look at the other boys on the team,” she said.

Maura Buckery, a senior, thinks the entire Babson community could benefit from the money.

Founder’s Day to focus on political campaigns

by BILL SHANNON

The Management of Political Campaigns will be the theme of this year’s Founder’s Day symposium in mid-April, according to Richard Poiznak, Director of Public Relations.

The symposium will be designed to introduce the important technical, organizational, managerial, and communication changes that have occurred in the American electoral process during the past few years.

Organized around the theme of declining effectiveness of political parties organization, the program will attempt to clarify how candidates for local, state, and national office now mobilize their base electorates with the use of professional cadres who integrate management information and media.

Poznok said, "our proposed program is hardly designed to be a guideline for gaming victory with the new style of campaigning; rather it is hoped that students will gain insights into the process of contemporary politics.

Abound cites constant use of management lab

by BRIAN STRAWBRIDGE

The management laboratory is constantly used by management undergraduates, faculty, and students, according to Dr. John Aboud, assistant professor of management and organizational behavior.

Located in Babson Hall, rooms 209-213, the lab consists of a board room, conference room, observation theatre and two small cubicles. The observation theatre contains video and audio equipment; and two way mirrors, all of which are used to monitor the activities in the conference room.

The Student Affairs Committee has recently questioned the actual student use of the lab. Aboud responded by saying, “I feel the committee’s report was inaccurate. We [the management department] have records to prove the lab’s frequent use.”

These records include past schedules that professors have made in order to use the facility. Under the cover...

What do we do with your bookstore profits?

Student Government has appointed two students to poll the campus to help decide what the $10,000 bookstore profit will be used for. And that means, in the end, that every student will have a say in the decision.

It's a unique opportunity for students to do something significant for themselves, and for future students. But it's important that the final decision benefit everyone, and not just a few isolated groups.

There have been a lot of suggestions thrown out in the last few weeks, and they seem to represent students grasping about what's needed around campus.

Added athletic facilities, books for the library, and lounge renovations are all things that are needed, but the question remains: Do any of these ideas serve the best interests of the entire student population?

Additional athletic facilities are good for those people who use them, but unfortunately, the numbers are pitifully small.

More books for the library runs into the problem of which books should be bought, and in what subject matters they should be.

Renovation of the student lounges is a much needed possibility, but the lounges that the renovations are used primarily by Continuing Education, and not by the general student population.

Granted, the campus population is so diversified that finding one way to spend the money may be unrealistic. And the possibility exists to spend the profits in a number of areas, and in that way benefiting the most students.

Either way, however, it will be for the students to decide. Student Government reps should not make the final decision, they should only act on the majority opinion of their constituents.

So remember, it's ten thousand dollars, and it's ours. Let's not throw it away.

But seriously folks...

The other day I happened to run across this letter. Although I do not have the habit to pry into other people's letters, I was so absorbed and interested by its contents that it wasn't until I finished that I realized what I'd done. Anyway, I thought that many of us would feel identified with it.

Dear Mum:

I suppose you are angry at me for not having written for so long. The truth is since my leg got better and I was able to leave the hospital (I was in the hospital for three weeks since I broke a leg while skiing in Canada), things really started moving for me.

Canada was great, by the way, except for the broken leg. While in Canada I met this great guy called Howard. So we started dating and, well, the inevitable thing happened. Well, it wasn't exactly inevitable, it happened. Yes, mum, I am pregnant. (Hurry, ranch for the Valentine's, take two and call up grandpa!)

Well, mum, I have now told you the things I am sure you'll understand. These things do happen you know. After that, I was really determined to get married Howard. The ceremony was very simple and, as I'm sure you know, not even the family was invited. The truth is, mum, that I couldn't bring myself to tell you this before.

But seriously folks...

The latest weather for Babson and vicinity...

The New England autumn climate: it's one of the ground rules of the game called Massachusett.

But I'm beginning to wonder what people really mean when they call October weather at Babson "crisp." Do they mean crisp like a crust of ice on a glacier... or crisp like fried potatoes?

Think about it: throughout the day, everyone passes through a wide variety of temperature transitions.

The information center should issue a local weather forecast and post it on the bulletin board next to the list of cancelled classes. It could read something like this:

The Eastern regions of Trimg Dining Hall will reach a high of 76 degrees at 8 a.m., cooling throughout the day as the sun passes over head. The northwest sector will be comfortably cooler, with highs in the low 60s. Expect a gray sky with light rain at dinner time. (Get your reservations in early at the hot cocoa machine.)

Until warmed by mid-afternoon sun, residents of the Keith-Canfield Zone should expect icy breezes from the Arctic Circle around Coleman Hall.

The soccer field should be cool and dry until warmed by the crowd at the next soccer game.

Moving downtown, it will be a mild day in the basement of Park Manor Central. We're looking for a high of only 67 degrees down there today. The record high for the year is 113 degrees.

Moving up along College Drive, we encounter the beginning of the Monson season at Meena Pool. The humidity is 97% today, with a 10% chance of rain.

Stiff gales can be expected from the fans in Knight Annex, with the noise blocking out all voice reception. On the tundra in Knight Auditorium, the stationary cold front will be replaced by a passing warm front after the modern dance class.

In the tropical jungles of the educational center, it looks like a comfortable, mild October day. The highs in Gerber Hall could reach 77 degrees in rooms B101 and B102, while we can expect a seeing 93 degrees in B213 and B214.

All in all, the weather picture looks good. Visitors should be reminded to bring bathing suits and sunhats for the educational centers' second floor classrooms, and ski sweaters for Trimg Dinner.

Babson ACU-NEC athletic tryouts to begin October 27

by JIM TARNER

Tryouts for representation of Babson to the Association of College Unions International-New England Regions (ACU-NEC) will be conducted from October 27 through November 3, according to Mark Salome, coach and athletic director.

Winners of the Babson tryouts will represent the school at Boston University in the New England Regional finals, expected paid.

No definite date has been set for the finals as yet, though they will take place sometime next February.

Briefly, these events begin scholastic athletics leave off. They allow students to participate on an individual level, as well as with team members." Salome said.

Last year was the first year Babson sent representatives to the tournament. Salome and vice-chairman, Jill Getler hope that this year will be more successful than last year.

"We hope to have more participation from female students," said Gabler, "last year, only one female represented Babson at the tournament." Special events for females have been added this year, in order to boost interest among the girls," added Salome.

Last year's tournament included bullring, bowling, chess, and table tennis. This year, two new events, table soccer (football) and bridge have been added to the schedule.

Any undergraduate Babson student may enter the competition, but there are some tournament rules that must be followed. They are:

1. In order to participate in the tournament, a student must have a G.P.A. of 6.0 or better.
2. There is an entry fee of one dollar per person, for each event entered. The entrance fee must be paid before October 24. After that date, an entrance fee of 50 cents will be charged. The fee can be paid at the information desk in Park Manor Central between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 1:20 p.m.

3. There is no limitation to the number of events an athlete may enter. Winners may represent Babson in only one event at the finals.

Each finalist in each event will be awarded a trophy. The students

Needham contemplates sculpture purchase

"Square threatened elbow," a sculpture currently on display on campus, is under consideration for purchase by the town of Needham, according to Elizabeth G. Fitts, Fine Arts teacher at Babson.

The sculpture by David Kibbee is presently located on lower Emerson Plaza in front of Garber Hall. According to Griffiths, the artist will be moving to California, and does not wish to leave his pieces in storage.

"His agent, Eve Jacobson, proposed it to the Needham Art Commission for the Green," said Griffiths.

The proposal for display of modern art on the historic Green has met with some opposition in the town of Needham. Although she was unsure of the exact price, Griffiths cites letters to the editor in the Needham paper expressing the sentiment. "Apparently there's some controversy from the people in town who feel that modern sculpture is not appropriate for a colonial Green," she said.

At press time, two Needham selectmen were not available for comment on the situation.
Robert and Fran Hartwell: Babson's coaching family

"Why should recreational activities stop every time you have a varsity sport that's got to practice, whether it be varsity men's basketball, girls' basketball, or girls' volleyball?" asked Bob Hartwell.

He cited inadequacies in the recreational locker room, the women's locker room, and the work out gym.

"Certainly there must be problems in the Hartwell's combination of jobs. What's the major problem? "Who's going to cook dinner?" quipped Mr. Hartwell.

"We've organized everything fairly well, but meals are about the only thing that's a problem," added Mrs. Hartwell. "The nicest thing is that our own regular dinner hour has been about nine o'clock at night, which is late for us, but it's been kind of enjoyable."

"But it is a problem getting our schedules co-ordinated," he concluded. "Like any working couple, the Hartwells have difficulties and problems but none too great for them.

What do they think of coaching at the same college? They're enjoying it, which is really the most important thing.

By JOHN HUGGINS

Between the two of them, they coach four intramural teams, teach three classes, raise two daughters, and coach one private school team.

Throw in caring for their horses (their oldest daughter is an excellent rider), seeing each other's teams competing, running a summer camp and a soccer camp, and you can see that the Hartwells are a very busy couple.

But they are never too busy for a Babson student with something on his mind.

Living just beyond the official line on Wellesley Avenue, their house and their time are easily accessible to a student, often a team member, who needs an ear and a little advice.

What do the Hartwells love about coaching? The answer is obvious after you meet them. Fran Hartwell responded immediately. "The people, the people I work with."

Bob Hartwell mentioned that he enjoys the teaching aspect: the conveying of ideas to a team member.

There was one Forum member who felt that perhaps Jorgensen would not have anything to say. "Rennick continued, "The purpose of the Forum, though, is to both entertain and inform."

According to the APB, Jorgensen spoke at the New York University last year. "Christine Jorgensen: A Personal Autobiography," was published in 1951. The Bureau said that she was one of NYU's most exciting speakers that year.

Rennick hopes that between three and five hundred people will come to Babson to hear Jorgensen. He said he believes this is her only speaking engagement in New England at this time. According to the Forum president, Jorgensen is presently on a lecture tour of the country. "I think she will also be doing a talk show while she's in Boston," Rennick said.

The Forum plans to include publicity on other campuses and in the local communities, but Rennick stated that not much had been done yet in that area. Admission will be free for the Babson community and one dollar for outsiders.

Future Forum programs will feature Jimmy Breslin in February and possibly comedian Robert Klein in the spring. For now, though, Christine Jorgensen will provide us with a first-hand viewpoint on a once unprecedented subject.

Soccer team beats BC 2-0 for second shutout in a row

by ED SIMMONS

Babson College's soccer team brought its midseason record to 6-0-1 with a 2-0 victory over Emmanuel College Tuesday afternoon. The Bears scored rides to seventh in the latest New England Soccer Poll.

Joe Oliver was a big part of Babson's offense as he took several shots on goal. In the last four Babson games, Oliver has scored five goals and three assists.

Even though the Bears had several scoring opportunities because of his work, they failed to capitalize on these chances.

The B.C. Eagles took charge for a few minutes midway through the first half, but the Babson defense was up to the challenge. Even with their occasional offensive spurts, Babson controlled play in the middle of the field throughout most of the game.

Jimmy Powers and Willie Thibodeau were named the M.V.P. and Tiger of the game, respectively, for their efforts in the middle. They helped get goalie Shane Kennedy his second shutout in as many games.

Babson scored the first goal at the 30 minute mark of the first half. Franz Grunzer sent a pass from the right corner across the net. Memo Marescarisa placed a perfect head shot into the right side of the net.

Babson continued to mount pressure on the B.C. defense. With exactly nine minutes left in the half, the Bears took a 2-0 lead. Babson's third and the last goal of the game.

Jimmy Powers picked a rebound up just outside the penalty area and drilled a shot towards the net. B.C. goalie Dave Rochez dove for the ball, but it went off his fingertips into the back of the net.

Coach Bob Hartwell commented, "After Jimmy Powers' goal it seemed that we were relatively methodical and unimpressed to score more."

The Bears have won two straight games and are 5-0-1 in league play.

Beavers defeat Norwich 5-0

by JOHN HUGGINS

The Babson soccer team parted a surging offense and an aggressive defense in a 5-0 victory over Norwich Saturday afternoon on Coleman Hill.

Memo Marescarisa got an assist on the first goal, which came on a ball game-setting the ball past Norwich goalie Aaron Stevens. Babson assistant Vito Pettiti assisted on the score.

Midway through the first half a Norwich defender was called for a hand ball right in front of his own goal. His actions prevented a Babson score.

Beavers sweep winning with 5-1 Trinity victory

by MARK PYSNIK

Babson got an early goal in the first half but came storming back with five goals to coast to a 5-1 victory over Trinity College last Thursday in Hartford, Connecticut.

Trinity took the opening kickoff and immediately tested Babson's defense. Just fifteen seconds into the half, Trinity's Brian Jennings lined a hand shot in front of Babson's goal. The ball went through a maze of players hit the post and deflected off a Babson player into the net for the score.

Jon Anderson tied the score a minute and thirty seven seconds later. Alone in the middle of the field, he fished a grounder from 20 feet out that just made it inside the post.

Play then started to shift into both ends of the field. Babson had two good scoring opportunities. Joel Oliver set up Memo Marescarisa in front of the net, but the ball went outside. Marescarisa also set up Frankie Pariseau from outside the box, but the ball was over pariseau's head.

Bobby Pettiti put Babson in front at 13:27 of the second half. Pettiti, off an nacid individual effort, stole the ball from the Trinity goalie and put it to the open net for the easy score.

Trinity had several scoring opportunities of their own. However, Babson continued to put pressure on the B.C. defense but were unable to score. Hartwell continued, "Our forwards must constantly maintain their composure, and if there is an empty net, take advantage of it."

Steve Anderson, coming off a three game lay-off due to a leg injury, set up several Babson scoring opportunities. As he got back into the game he even took a couple of shots of his own.

The closest Babson came to scoring in the second half was a penalty kick by Franz Grunzer. However, his low shot went just left of the net.

Babson has a 25 to 5 dominance in shots. But a more revealing fact shows the Beavers with ten corner kicks and the Eagles with only one.

Babson now has three road games in a row. They play Coast Guard on Saturday and then Clark on Wednesday. They also have a game against Bowdoin in Maine that Saturday.

The defensive play went for naught however, when Franz Grunzer booted home the penalty kick. Grunzer placed the ball into the lower, left-hand corner of the goal for a 2-0 lead.

For the remainder of the first half Babson seemed to have trouble keeping possession of the ball. Defense stood its ground thwarting several Norwich strikers.

Capping the defensive stand was a leaping save by goalie Shane Kennedy on a shot that was just under the crossbar.

The save seemed to perk up the Beavers.

Stane Kennedy ran to each situation, easily handling Trinity's shots.

Play then started to get tedious as neither team could generate any more scoring opportunities. The score remained 2-0 through the last minutes of the game.

Pantoccio made it four to one on a play set up by Babson. Oliver, close to the net, fired in a hard shot. The goalie deflected it but the rebound came to Pantoccio who put it by the outstretched goalie.

Oliver ended the scoring at 44:06 of the half with his second goal of the game. Facing the goalie on one on one, he placed his shot into the upper right hand corner of the net for all purposes the game was over in the Trinity half.

The second half was lacklustre in comparison to the first. However, Babson was somewhat injured to key Babson players. Wilfred Thibodeau, a starting defense, broke a bone in his ankle and was sidelined for the rest of the game. Franz Grunzer broke a bone in his right hand but continued to play in the game.

Thibodeau and Mark Delegrin were the Tigers of the Game while M.V.P. honors were shared by Oliver and James Powers for their defensive roles.

The Beavers are 8-0-1 in league play and are currently ranked 15th in the nation.

What's wrong with the Rams? They were supposed to be a great power and have not yet shown much strength. The Falcons are improving and quarterback Bratowski will be a good one soon.

The Colts have been one step away from victory each of the past few weeks. Today they should take that big step and defeat a Pat team that has not impressed anyone yet this year.

The Steelers are starting to roll. Once they gain speed the club is almost unstoppable. The Bears will not go far this year. They are poor in many areas.

O. J. is just unequal. The man has 699 yards rushing in four games. Project that for the full season and he would have over 2400 yards! This seems impossible, but who can tell? The Giants seem to be improving, but still make too many errors. The undefeated Bills should continue.

The Boston Globe Book Festival

It's Boston's biggest annual literary event. And this year it's going to be bigger than it's ever been before.

Starting at 3 pm on Friday, October 17th, the John D. Hynes Veterans Auditorium in Boston's Prudential Center is going to be packed with authors, publishers, booksellers, speakers, exhibits, films, poetry, door prizes and about a zillion books. Harrison Salisbury, Tom Braden, Julia Child, Ray Mungo, Sally Quinn, Jonathan Kozol, Myra MacPherson and over 50 other authors will be there.

There's going to be a special multi-screen slide and movie show called "Profile '76." Plus autograph parties, lectures and demonstrations. All in all, three great days for everyone who loves books.

Make a note of the dates and times.

Friday, October 17, 5 to 10 pm, Saturday, October 18th, 12 noon to 10 pm and Sunday, October 19th, from 1 to 8 pm. Admission is $3.00 for adults and $2.00 for students. A complete schedule of events will be published in "Calendar," Thursday, October 16th, in The Boston Globe.
